

Over 500 Dead In Nation, 16 In Badger State

Only Three Lives Lost
Through Fireworks
Accidents
AUTO TOLL IS HIGH
Eight Persons Lose Lives
In State by Drowning

By the Associated Press
The toll of America's holiday deaths—at least 513 died violently celebrating the 182nd anniversary of independence—showed today the nation has practically eliminated fireworks fatalities but has failed to quell the menace of the motor car.
Only three persons were killed by fireworks—all of the "home-made" variety. Motor crashes on packed highways, however, claimed at least 256 lives, half of the entire number.
The rush for beaches and lake and river resorts to escape immediate heat in some sections of the country resulted in 139 drownings.
Reports from 46 states and the District of Columbia also showed 27 persons were shot to death, 20 committed suicide, 18 were killed by trains and 50 died in various mishaps such as falls, lightning and home accidents.
Under 1937 Toll
The toll of 513 was below that of the Fourth of July weekend in 1937, when 563 were killed, but more than doubled the number for the Memorial day weekend—250.
New York, with 39 deaths, led the states. Pennsylvania was second with 33, Michigan third with 27 and Illinois fourth with 26.
Freak accidents took many lives. One Missouri resident was struck and killed by a chunk of ice. A 16-year-old girl in Brooklyn was fatally wounded by a stray bullet as she sat in a window watching a fireworks display in the street below.
A boy was killed and 17 men, women and children were injured when three racing cars plowed into a group of spectators at Hotchkiss, N. J. A New York boy was electrocuted when he tripped and fell across the third rail of the Long Island railroad's tracks while chasing an American flag dropping to earth from a parachute.
The fireworks victims were killed by their own "inventions." Exploding powder poured into a piece of iron pipe fatally injured a Maryland boy. In Pennsylvania, one man was killed by a home-made cannon and another by a bomb fashioned from an automobile wheel pin.
Wisconsin Toll
Sixteen lives were lost in Wisconsin over the Fourth of July weekend. Eight persons drowned.
In addition to the fatalities within the state, a Wisconsin man was killed in a collision in Illinois. One traffic death was reported in upper Michigan. The dead:
James Watt, 50, of near Grandview.
Gus Weslsen, 45, Gile.
Robert McCracken, 73, Island Lake (Rusk county).
Ted Sobin, 25, Chicago.
Steve Peterson, 44, Woodruff.
Robert Conte, 15, Milwaukee.
Julian Lutz, 42, Milwaukee.
Florian Makowicz, 18, Milwaukee.
Mrs. Carl Hendricksen, 53, Kenosha.
John Green Dear, 7, Wyeville.
Harry Morris, 59, Green Lake.
John Gonczarczyk, 36, Chicago.
John Janetzke, 23, Chicago.
Erick Johansen, 36, Chicago.
Julia Anne Archambeau, 1, Manitowish, Mich.
Kenneth M. Cady, about 23, Madison.
Falls to Death
The Conte boy fell 18 feet from a second story porch to a concrete wall, in Milwaukee Monday.

Weakened by the infirmities of age, Netherwood, custodian of the Grand Army of the Republic's memorial hall in Madison, died at his home here early yesterday.
Associates of Governor Philip LaFollette said the chief executive probably would attend the Masonic service to be held in the high school gymnasium at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow.

2 Minor Traffic Crashes Occur in County Over 4th

Motorist Critically Hurt in Accident Near Chilton Sunday

The concentrated safety drive by police and other groups interested in safety brought extremely satisfactory results in Outagamie county during the Fourth of July weekend with only two minor accidents being reported in Appleton and none in the remainder of the county.
This is an exceptionally good record in face of the fact that thousands of motorists moved over highways the county and city streets to and from the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce celebration at Erb park. Not one accident occurred near the park. Traffic was so heavy near the park before and after the fireworks displays that one motorist said it took him 15 minutes to travel one block.
City police officers were right on the job keeping cars moving and directing traffic at congested intersections. Outagamie county police officers also spent a busy weekend and the junction of Highways 76 and 45 at Greenville was one of the most heavily travelled, according to Charles Steidl, captain of the county traffic squad.
Fractures Skull
The most serious traffic accident to occur in the Appleton area was on Highway 151, six miles west of Chilton, about 2 o'clock Sunday morning. Rudolph Ertl, 22, route 3, Chilton, lost control of the car he was driving and struck a tree.

Probe Mystery Death of Woman

Hypnotist Held on Suspicion of Murder Pending
Coroner's Report
Glendale, Calif.—(P)—Uncompleted chemical tests were believed by police today to hold the answer to the mysterious death of Mrs. Marie Colombos during a visit by a vaudeville hypnotist.
Robert A. Gilbert, 49-year-old mesmerist known on the stage as "the great Gilbert," was in custody on suspicion of murder pending a coroner's report.
Admitting he had been with the young expectant mother when she died last Thursday at her home, Gilbert told police he had been asked to call by her bartender husband, George Colombos.
"George told me she didn't want to have the child. I didn't think I could be of any help," he said.
Since recent publicity that his hypnotic suggestions enabled Mrs. Ethel Pardie Gaynor to give birth painlessly to a child, Gilbert claimed to have received many inquiries from other women.
But the gray-haired, cigar-smoking trapper insisted he did not subject Mrs. Colombos to any treatment. She collapsed, he said, when lifting a 150-pound day bed from the floor after her husband had left on an outing with their 17-month-old daughter.

Japs Capture Hukow During New Advance

Preparing for Another
Major Effort to Occupy Hankow

RIFT WITH FRANCE

Tokio Government Aroused
Over Seizure of Paracel Islands

Shanghai—(P)—The Japanese army, which in a year's fighting has crashed its way 450 miles up the Yangtze river into the heart of China, established positions today for another major effort to reach Hankow, provisional capital of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's government.
The Japanese command announced today the capture of Hukow, 160 miles from the China capital and a principal barrier to the Japanese advance. Chinese withdrew, leaving munitions supplies, and there was little fighting after Japanese pierced Hukow's outer defenses, military officials said.
Occupation of the city put the Japanese in position for a Hankow offensive along two possible routes, both extremely difficult.
Two Alternatives
The one choice was a 150-mile drive up the Yangtze river, winding through a mountainous area with its strong Chinese defenses. The other was a land and water detour to the west, in an effort to sever the Canton-Hankow railroad, disrupt transportation of supplies and force the evacuation of Hankow.
For military observers thought the roundabout route would be the choice, with the Japanese avoiding a frontal assault on Hankow.
The logical route for a detour was from Hukow across and around Lake Poyang to Nanchang, China's major airbase, 100 miles south. Japanese said today they bombed Nanchang from the air and destroyed 51 planes. Kunging, on Lake Poyang, also was bombed.
It was assumed that the Japanese would continue their operations up the Yangtze toward Hankow, to protect their flank and force a division of Chinese defenses.
The first Japanese objective from Hukow was Kuikiang, 15 miles up river. Japanese warships, which steamed through six mine fields between Matowchen and Hukow, today were busy removing mines from the river and the mouth of Lake Poyang to prepare for the Kuikiang advance.

Appleton Broker Is Facing Charge Of Embezzlement

Shortage Is Found in Bond
Accounts of M. M.
Bacon

A warrant charging M. M. Bacon, 1038 E. Eldorado street, private investment counselor in Appleton for about the last seven years, with embezzlement of $405.00 has been issued by District Attorney Raymond D. Dohr.
Shortage of $130,000 in bonds, based on present market value, was discovered by a representative of the state banking department who examined Bacon's books last week, following a complaint made to the department, according to Mr. Dohr. The records were impounded today by the district attorney.
The federal securities exchange commission also is making an examination of Bacon's records. Bacon has maintained an office in the People's Loan and Finance company building, 123 S. Appleton street.
After the warrant is served Bacon will appear in municipal court before Acting Municipal Judge Fred V. Heinemann.
The district attorney said that the examination of books last week showed shortages in 28 accounts, most of which are of Appleton residents.

Progressives Will Have 2 Meetings at Madison This Week

Madison—(P)—Progressive leaders will assemble here this week for two important state meetings but without any assurance that Governor LaFollette will make known his political plans to them.
The county committee to a statewide conference Thursday and the Progressive state central committee will meet Saturday.
The chief executive said today he would not have any formal announcement to make at either session as to whether he will be a candidate for a fourth term, although he previously had said he would announce his plans soon after July 4.
Thursday's session the governor said, has been called to act upon major questions facing the party. It will be the first time the county committee have come together in a group since last March when Governor LaFollette inaugurated the conference which resulted in formation of the National Progressive party.
The only official word about the governorship that has come from recent Progressive meetings was that LaFollette does not desire to be a candidate for reelection, but leaders say they expect him to yield to demands that he head the state ticket.

Van Nuys Invited To be 'Candidate'

Split Apparently Averted
In Indiana Democratic Party

Indianapolis—(P)—United States Senator Frederick Van Nuys (D-Ind.) appeared virtually assured today of renomination at the Democratic state convention here July 12 as the result of a telegram from Governor M. Clifford Townsend inviting him to "become a candidate" to succeed himself in a post he has held since 1932.
Denying he was "dictator of Hoosier Democratic politics," or had attempted to read Senator Van Nuys out of the party, the governor said the convention would be "wide open."

Count Demands $5,000,000 and Custody of Child in Return for Divorce, Barbara's Lawyers Say

London—(P)—Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz-Reventlow's battery of noted legal talent today accused her titled Danish husband of demanding $5,000,000 and their 2-year-old son Lance in return for a divorce in a tense hearing in Bow street court.
In the course of two and a half hours of sensational testimony to support charges against the handsomely Countess, he also was accused of threatening to shoot an unnamed Mayfair society man "like a dog."
The golden-haired, Woolworth heiress kept her eyes on the back of her husband's head as her attorneys declared he had threatened to "put her on the spot" and had laughed at a proffered gift of $250,000 as "an insult."
Hearing Adjourned
The hearing was adjourned until July 13. Today's testimony was on the countess' charges that her husband had placed her in fear of her life or bodily harm.
He was released again on bail of £2,000 ($10,000), as in the case of his first hearing, last Friday immediately after returning from France to face the wife's charges.
Sir Patrick Hastings, noted king's counselor, and Solicitor William M. Mitchell, attorneys for the countess, related a long series of threats they said the count had made in Paris.
Talked of "Duel"
They said he talked of a "duel," called his wife obscene names, threatened to seize his son and "give Barbara three years of hell and headlines."
He hinted, too, of suicide, they said, and declared people would blame his wife for driving him to it.
On cross-examination Mitchell testified that the count was "seriously disturbed" because of "another."

ASKS EXTRA TERM

Madison—(P)—Glenn P. Turner (above), Madison, secretary of the American Old Age Pension League of Wisconsin said today the organization has asked Governor LaFollette to call a special session of the legislature to liberalize the old age pension laws.
Turner said a resolution was adopted stating the governor had promised support of a pension law "entirely free from the stigma of relief and from the red tape of questionnaires" but the 1937 legislature adjourned without achieving these aims.

Watchman at Night Club Is Shot to Death

Killed While on Duty at Place Near Woodruff;
Milkmen Find Body

ROBBERY MOTIVE

Cash Register Looted; Victim's Gun Is Taken
From Holster

Woodruff, Wis.—(P)—Arnold Bloomquist, about 40, a former Oneida county deputy sheriff, was shot and killed by one or more gunmen early today while on duty as watchman at the Plantation, a night club at the intersection of Highway 70 and 51, north of here.
Henry Gages and George Makus, Rhinelander employees of the Oneida Milk company, discovered Bloomquist's body about 5 o'clock a. m. while making an early morning delivery. They investigated, reporting that the door of the recently built club had been forced open.
Edmund Drager, Vilas county district attorney, said Bloomquist apparently had come to the window upon hearing the noise made by the men seeking to gain entrance, and had been fired at through the glass. The body was found slumped in a corner nearby. Several holes in the window pane apparently were made by revolver shots. Drager said.
Place Burglarized
Investigating authorities concluded that the men succeeded in forcing the door after shooting the watchman, and that they then robbed the cash register of an undetermined amount of money and took with them several "skill" machines.
The district attorney said Bloomquist's pistol holster was empty and his gun missing.
Sheriff Julius Seyfert of Vilas county posted warnings with authorities in other northern Wisconsin counties to be on the lookout for suspects, but there were no tangible clues.
The shooting took place some time between 4 o'clock a. m. when the club closed and 5 o'clock when the milkmen arrived. Neighbors in the vicinity told the authorities they heard muffled noises during the night but credited them to late Independence day celebrations.
Dr. Russell Oldfield of Eagle River was to conduct a post mortem on the body today.
Bloomquist and two other Oneida county deputies, George Hintz and Matt Jeffcock, both of Rhinelander, had been working at the Plantation as watchmen. When Oneida County Sheriff Hans Rodd asked the men to resign as deputies or quit work.

Commission Planning Rate Investigation

Madison—(P)—The public service commission announced today it will investigate rates charged by Wisconsin railroads for shipment of products manufactured from milk and cheese. A hearing will be held at Madison, July 29.
Under the present rates, railroads add 1 cent per hundred pounds of shipped logs and apply direct transit rates when products made from these logs are reshipped within six months. Complaints have been made against the additional one cent charge, the commission said.
Amnicon town, Douglas county, was given an extension of 60 days to complete a new grade crossing over the Northern Pacific railroad tracks, in a commission order today.
Unusual weather prevented work on the crossing which will now be ready for use on Aug. 29.

2 Milwaukeeans Resign From Socialist Party

Milwaukee—(P)—Harold Christoffel, CIO leader, and Arthur Ludwigsen, state chairman of the Wisconsin Workers' Alliance, resigned yesterday from the Socialist party.
Christoffel is president of the Allis-Chalmers union of the United Automobile Workers union and president of the Milwaukee County Industrial Union council of the CIO.
In letters of resignation to Leonard K. Place, county Socialist committee secretary, both men assailed present day leadership of the party.

Report Roosevelt Prepared for Bold New Political Fight

Bangup Time Is Had by All
At Jace's Fourth of July
Celebration Over Weekend

BY RICHARD DAVIS
"Something doing every minute" appeared to be the motto of the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce in staging the Half the Life of the Nation civic celebration at Erb park during the Fourth of July weekend. Jace officials estimated over 60,000 residents of Appleton and vicinity converged upon the park to take part in the Independence day activities.
An inspirational address by Glenn Frank, national Republican chairman on policy and former president of the University of Wisconsin, added prestige to the elaborate event while Robert Gallagher and Theodore Albrecht, Jr. were accorded public recognition for saving children from drowning in the Fox river when presented with heroism medals.
Word went round that the Jaces "were doing things up right" as the celebration opened Saturday afternoon with one of the most brilliant parades witnessed in Appleton for many years and a large crowd was lined the park that evening where a merry-go-round, ferris wheel, sideshows, concessions and free musical acts were combined in carnival atmosphere.
Weather Favorable
The weather man had been none too cheerful about the whole thing with his predictions of unsettled weather, showers and continued cool temperatures but Mother Nature took a hand in the matter and saw to it that Ol' Sol got back in the harness rather than to take a double holiday like the rest of the celebrants.
Ideal weather encouraged thousands to drift out to the park Sunday.

Body of Woman Who Leaped From Bridge Is Found

Jumped From Car on Memorial Drive Bridge
75 Feet Into River

The body of Mrs. Mary Sawitski, 26, who Sunday afternoon leaped from a moving car driven by her husband, John Sawitski, route 5, Oshkosh, and plunged 75 feet from Memorial drive bridge to her death in the Fox river, was found at Sunset Point, Kimberly, at 12:30 this afternoon. The body was sighted by two Kimberly fishermen, Sylvester VerBelten and Arthur Hafkens, who notified authorities.
Chief of Police George T. Prim immediately to the spot and identified the body.
Sawitski had received permission to take his wife, who was a patient at the Northern hospital, Winnebago county, for a 1-day trip accompanied by the couple's 8-month-old baby, he called for the mother early Sunday morning and was returning to the hospital when the tragedy occurred.
The young man was driving south over the bridge shortly before 4 o'clock in the afternoon and as he approached the highest point, his wife opened the door on the west side and threw herself over the railing. The car was traveling about 10 miles an hour over the bridge and near the railing. There is no sidewalk on that side of the bridge.
Chief of Police George T. Prim immediately organized searching crews but attempts to recover the body were hindered by the high water, which is unusual at this time of the year. Government officials were notified and later the sluiceway at Menasha were closed to lower the level of the water.
The husband of the drowned woman said he could give no reason for the victim's action and said she apparently had been enjoying the outing.
Hundreds of persons of Appleton and others in the city for the Fourth of July celebration lined the river in the vicinity of Memorial drive bridge Sunday afternoon, evening and Monday to watch the search for the body.
Besides the widower and son John, Mrs. Sawitski is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Sennitt, Oshkosh seven brothers, Ernest, Joseph, John, Frank, Ferdinand, Anthony and Alois Sennitt, Oshkosh, three sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Sennitt, Oshkosh, Mrs. Joseph Sennitt, Oshkosh, and Mrs. John Sennitt, Oshkosh.

Government Lines Reported Broken

Spanish Insurgents Report
Loyalist Militiamen
In Flight

Hendaye, France, at the Spanish Frontier—(P)—Insurgents swung down the Mediterranean coast to coast Valencia today and occupied Burriana, important highway point 20 miles north of Sagunto. They also marched into Grao de Burriana slightly to the east and directly on the coast.
Hendaye, France, at the Spanish Frontier—(P)—Spanish insurgents reported today they had shattered government lines below the important Teruel-Mediterranean highway in the Sarrion sector and put the militiamen in full flight.
Dispatches from General Jose Varela's field headquarters said his insurgents had advanced 12 miles since their sudden relentless offensive south of the highway was started Saturday.
Thousands of government troops defending almost-surrounded positions in the Universales mountains were in danger of being trapped.
On the extreme eastern flank of the 50-mile Castellon de la Plana front along the Mediterranean coast, insurgents were reported to have stormed the heights dominating Nules, strategic city on the coastal highway 14 miles north of Sagunto, where the Teruel-Mediterranean and Castellon-Sagunto highways join as one road to Valencia.
The way for insurgent General Miguel Arana's drive on Nules was opened by the capture of Aitana village to the west. Aitana controls a network of roads to the foothills of the Ebroean mountains about 30 miles north of Valencia.
Insurgent victories put them in "new positions of great importance" along the 10-mile front south of the Teruel-Mediterranean route.
After fierce fighting Monday insurgents captured Aldehuela, three miles from the highway, while insurgents' bombers killed eight and wounded 30 at Gava, southern suburb of Barcelona.

Grand Jury Being Named For Milk Industry Probe

Chicago—(P)—Federal Judge James H. Wilkinson began immediately today the grand jury selected to probe practically all its time to an investigation of whether a nationwide trust existed in the milk industry.
United States District Attorney Michael L. Igoe and Leo Tierney, special assistant United States attorney general, planned to outline the grounds on which the government hoped to obtain anti-trust indictments, at the beginning of the grand jury session Friday.
The grand jury was expected to sit during July and August. The hearing of testimony and presentation of evidence will begin July 15, it was indicated.

Ask Southerners To Open Study of Economic Problems

Washington—(P)—President Roosevelt asked a group of southerners today to begin a survey of methods to improve southern economic conditions—a survey he described as "the nation's number one economic problem."
"We have an economic imbalance in the nation as a whole, due to this very condition of the south," he said in a letter to those at a meeting called by the National Economic Council.
"It is an imbalance that can and must be righted, for the sake of the south and the nation."
"No purpose is closer to my heart," he said, "than to have such a survey."

Kentuckian Sure Roosevelt Won't Seek Third Term

Washington—(P)—Senator Logan "D.K." said today he felt certain neither President Roosevelt nor Vice President Garner would seek a third term.
The Kentucky senator, an administration supporter, commented on published reports that Garner had told senate intimates he would not seek a third term as vice president.
Logan made it plain that he had not personally discussed third terms with either Mr. Roosevelt or Garner, but added: "If Mr. Garner should be a presidential candidate in 1940 he would have much support for the nomination."
Senator Burke (D-Neb.) said he thought the vice president would be in a "receptive mood" if he were offered the Democratic presidential nomination in 1940.
Some friends of Garner said the vice president was receiving approximately 500 letters a week urging him to seek the nomination.

Florence County District Attorney Resigns Position

Says Charge of Failure to End Gambling Prompted Decision

Florence, Wis. — (P) — Allen C. Wittkopf resigned as district attorney of Florence county yesterday after the attorney general's department had recommended his removal from office.

In a letter to Governor LaFollette, Wittkopf asserted that charges filed against him by Attorney General O. S. Leominis could not be "sustained, either by direct evidence or by inference."

Leominis reported to the governor Saturday that state investigators had disclosed many houses of ill fame and gambling resorts operated openly in Florence county during 1936 and 1937, that Wittkopf had knowledge of slot machine operations in the county, and that the district attorney had been unable to explain $4,500 of his income in 1935, 1936 and 1937.

The attorney general reported there was sufficient evidence to start prosecution but that Wittkopf had transactions with certain slot machine operators and therefore came under the statute providing removal from office.

Sheriff Also Quits

Sheriff Anthony Grell of Florence county resigned after the state began investigating alleged vice conditions in that county last February.

Wittkopf, in the letter he made public yesterday, wrote that when he read a report of the state auditor he realized his state income tax report did not reflect his true gross income. The district attorney said he employed two accountants, filed amended tax returns with both state and federal governments, and paid the tax.

"The report of my accountant showed a gross income in excess of that claimed by the state auditor," Wittkopf wrote.

No Complaints Made

"There never was a complaint made to me asking for the closing of a house of ill fame or the arrest of a proprietor of such a place. I made an honest answer to every question put to me by the investigators, and my statement to them indicated my knowledge of the fact that slot machines were being operated in Florence county but nothing more, and no formal complaints have been made to me asking for their removal.

"I have unmitigated confidence in your fairness, but I realize that the report filed by the attorney general, unexplained and unchallenged, required you to order the institution of removal proceedings. Would Avoid Charges

"I am a young man without much experience and nevertheless I know that charges can easily be made that are hard to prove, but still harder to defend against, particularly when the accused is a public official.

"I know as a lawyer that a finding by a commissioner after a hearing that there was official acquiescence, and failure to act on certain knowledge of the operation of the gambling devices would constitute neglect of duty, under the statute, and would make it your duty to order my removal.

"It is for that reason alone that I respectfully tender my resignation as district attorney of Florence county to be effective immediately."

Dismissed Chief at Clintonville Opens Fight to Keep Post

Clintonville, Wis. — The question of who is Clintonville's police chief will be presented to Circuit Judge Byron E. Park in a hearing at Stevens Point July 11.

Jack Monty, chief for 32 years who was demoted several weeks ago by the city council and suspended when he declined to submit, has started mandamus proceedings in an effort to collect the chief's salary of $150 a month.

The council has named Oswald Goeringer to succeed him but Monty has continued to report for duty.

er gentleman" and wanted to know if the countess would marry him if she got a divorce.

It was Mitchell's lawyer who declared that the countess first thought of a settlement of $250,000 ($1,250,000) on her estranged husband but decided to offer $5,000,000 and custody of the child.

Mitchell said he had been authorized by the Woolworth heiress to increase the proffered "gift" from $250,000 to a limit of $500,000.

The count, who became the former Barbara Hutton's second husband a day after she divorced the late Prince Alexis Mdivani at Reno May 12, 1935, left their London home early June for Paris.

Soon thereafter she placed a guard around the mansion and went to court to obtain the summons on which today's hearing was based.

Mitchell testified that "the only ground on which the countess wanted a divorce was incompatibility."

93 Scouts Will Attend 1st Period at Gardner Dam; Camp to Open Sunday

Boy, it won't be long now until the Gardner Dam camps open for another summer of fun and real outdoor life for hundreds of Boy Scouts in this area. The lucky ones to draw the first week at camp number 93. The staff left for Gardner Dam Friday and will have everything ready for the opening Sunday.

In the excitement of leaving and the anticipation of a week of fun at camp, Walter Dixon, valley council executive and camp director, advises scouts to check their equipment carefully to be sure and have everything.

Remember that sometimes the nights are cold in the woods, he says. Maybe, it would be a good idea to take an extra blanket, it's better to have too many than not enough. And if you're going swimming, you'll need a swimming suit and towels. Don't forget toilet articles and extra clothing. Dixon reminded.

And then, there's always a flash light, a knife, a camera, compass, pencil and paper, a musical instrument or anything else that may not be absolutely necessary but may come in handy.

Each weekly camp period starts with the evening meal and no provisions will be made for scouts arriving at lunch time, Dixon said.

He suggested that scouts who intend to arrive at camp during the morning, bring a picnic lunch for the noon meal.

Dixon also suggested that parents and friends plan a picnic at Gardner Dam the Sunday you arrive. They then may inspect the camp and will have an opportunity to meet the staff.

Wisconsin Weather

Unsettled tonight and Wednesday with showers and local thunderstorms; not much change in temperature.

A trough of low pressure which now extends from Winnipeg to the state of Oklahoma has caused showers and thunderstorms since yesterday morning over the central Rocky mountains, northern plains states and upper Mississippi valley, with heavy rain falling over southwestern Wisconsin.

Fair weather prevailed this morning over the eastern and southern states and over the lower Lakes and Ohio valley.

Mild temperatures continue this morning over all sections from the plains states eastward, but it is rather cool over the northern Rocky mountains and Canadian Northwest.

Cloudy and unsettled weather with probable showers and thunderstorms is expected in this section during the next 24 hours, with mild temperature.

It was Mitchell's lawyer who declared that the countess first thought of a settlement of $250,000 ($1,250,000) on her estranged husband but decided to offer $5,000,000 and custody of the child.

Mitchell said he had been authorized by the Woolworth heiress to increase the proffered "gift" from $250,000 to a limit of $500,000.

The count, who became the former Barbara Hutton's second husband a day after she divorced the late Prince Alexis Mdivani at Reno May 12, 1935, left their London home early June for Paris.

Soon thereafter she placed a guard around the mansion and went to court to obtain the summons on which today's hearing was based.

Mitchell testified that "the only ground on which the countess wanted a divorce was incompatibility."

He said someone in English society had written him, stating that unless he first challenged that gentleman to a duel he could never return to London society again.

"The count went on to say that dueling was too good for that," he said, "and I shall go straight back to London and shoot him like a dog."

Thousands Take Part in July 4 Park Activities

out-of-town area with 1,332,450 ballots. The contest was conducted with the cooperation of Appleton merchants the last month in a city division and a division for entrants from the surrounding rural area.

Both queens were awarded a 10-day all-expense trip to Bermuda.

Joan Gerlach won second in the city competition with 1,661,300 votes to edge out Gertrude Ashman with 1,635,950. Audrey Wonders was second in rural competition with 687,950 and Elaine Merkel was a good third with 465,100. A Great Lakes cruise went with second honors and third place winners received valuable wrist watches.

Aside from Little Johnny straying away and Farmer Brown and all the little Browns failing to locate their truck because it was parked so far away, the race proved to be pronounced safe and sane. No major accidents occurred and kids from six to sixty found plenty to do without venturing on crowded highways.

Best Floats

Mayor John Goodland, Jr. who was called upon to officiate at many of the ceremonies, announced the Wisconsin Michigan Power company float was adjudged the best in the parade for industrial units while the Kimberly-Clark corporation entry was second honorable mention. American Legion won first in the open division while Schmidt Motor Service was second and Vandenberg Green house was given honorable mention rating. Van Zeeland Music company marchers were first in the marching event and the Boy Scout color guard received honorable mention.

Small boys sat astride car bumpers or raced alongside floats, tots were hoisted on high, adults craned their necks and band music swept the crowds into the Fourth of July spirit as the parade opened the celebration Saturday afternoon.

Alderman Mike Steinhauer, marshal of the day, rode on horseback at the head of the parade, with Police Chief George T. Prim and four police officers walking directly behind him. H. L. Davis, Jr. and Harold Finger, co-chairmen for the celebration, rode in a car with Mayor John Goodland, Jr. The parade was planned under the direction of Fred Boughton and Dale Fox.

Colorful Procession

Despite gray skies, there was plenty of color in the procession that started at Badger avenue and moved east on College avenue, disbanding at the Lawrence college campus. Impressive floats, marching units from the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, a shiny, new street department truck driven by Albert Wickesberg, city engineer, the city's fire-fighters and men and equipment, and pretty girls in bathing suits combined to keep the throng interested every moment.

Applause greeted the visiting bands as they marched along, led by high-stepping drum majors. Police had no trouble with the orderly crowd, and even the shooting of firecrackers was suspended while the parade was in progress, but it broke out with renewed vigor when the last float had passed by.

Ed Kilpinke, 1342 W. Spencer street, won the piano offered by C. A. Beirnard Piano store as the grand prize.

Confederate and Union Soldiers Returning Home After Gettysburg Reunion

By Robert D. Price

Gettysburg, Pa. — (P) — Bound by comradeship, the straggling ranks of the Blue and the Gray began their last retreat today from the field where they locked in combat 75 years ago.

Unlike 1863, when the Gray was pursued and the Blue the pursuer, they left together—in peace. They are pledged by their own words to their president to "eternal peace in a nation united," a pledge uttered in the shadow of the flaming beacon atop Oak hill that was lighted Sunday.

Some of the 2,000 veterans who have been here as guests of the government for the seventy-fifth battle anniversary know they never will return. Through one eventful week, they rekindled the campfires of their memory, lived again the days of '61 to '65 when brother fought against brother, neighbor against neighbor and friend against friend.

Under One Flag

Few of the 2,000 fought at Gettysburg; few of them can recall the futile fury of Pickett's charge or the bloody slaughter of the wheat field and the peach orchard. But they are heroes 'all, honored as President Roosevelt put it on Sunday, "not asking under which flag they fought then—thankful that they stand together under one flag now."

Their comrades, the vast majority of the 1,500,000 men who sprang to arms in North and South in 1861, have answered the last roll call. These 2,000 are the rearguard, fighting a losing battle against time. Amazing in their vitality, amusing in their humor, they are going home as they came. The special train started pulling out today.

Some of those who came by automobile left yesterday. Only a few who were injured or fell ill while here will remain behind.

Thousands Present

They went with full hearts, appreciative of the hospitality shown to them, seemingly unaware of the pulse-throbbing moments they have given the thousands who thronged this little town for the celebration, to shake their hands and to hear them speak.

There was a heart throb in every meeting of the veterans. And every meeting gave evidence of the peace between Yankee bluebelly and Johnny Reb.

The crowd had the same spirit. The man who proudly proclaimed that "my daddy was right beside General Armistead when he fell," was heard as attentively as the woman who told that "grandpa shook hands with General Meade."

For the most part these hundreds of thousands came in reverence, anxious to pay homage to the veterans or to see the spot where kind men had fought and perhaps died.

The lack of casualties amazed the men who planned the gigantic celebration. Colonel Paul D. Hawley, commandant of the medical corps, said about 25 had been given special sick leave to go home early.

"They had to agree to stay at least three days, or they couldn't get their pay for railroad fare, except in case of illness," he explained. "It is remarkable how most of them endured the trip and activities."

National Guard In Review Before Gov. LaFollette

More Than 20,000 Spectators See 5,000 Wisconsin Troopers

Camp Williams, Wis. — (P) — Governor Philip LaFollette, mounted on horseback with his chiefs of staff, reviewed 5,000 khaki-clad Wisconsin National guardsmen yesterday in the largest military display in the state since the World war days. More than 20,000 persons viewed the spectacle.

Members of Governor LaFollette's military staff who assisted in the review were Colonel Marshall C. Graff, Appleton; William Gleiss, Sparta; Wellwood Nesbit, Madison; Willard D. Isham, Milwaukee; John E. Grajek-Gray, Milwaukee; H. H. Steely, Sr., Milwaukee; and the Rev. Gustav Stearns, retired chaplain of the 32nd division.

Others on the reviewing stand were Colonel E. D. Edwards, commander of the University of Michigan; R. O. T. C.; Brigadier General Ralph M. Ironell, adjutant general camp commander of Camp Williams; George Meade, Wisconsin Rapids; University of Wisconsin regent; and Colonel William Lorenz, Madison, chief surgeon of the Wisconsin National Guard.

Five thousand troops, mounted and dismounted, in trucks, tanks, and scout cars, passed across the parade grounds.

Units participating were the 127th and 128th infantry, the 135th Medical regiment under Colonel James P. Dean of Madison; the 107th quartermaster regiment under Lieutenant Colonel Francis X. Ritter of Madison; the 53rd cavalry brigade, 22nd Cavalry division, and 105th Cavalry regiment.

The 57th Field Artillery from Camp McCoy near Sparta was commanded by Brigadier General Irving Fish, Milwaukee. Two planes of the 107th Observation squadron, Michigan National Guard, attended.

American Communists are Seeking Membership Boost

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The American Communist party claims 75,000 members. It is now engaged in a campaign to bring that membership up to 100,000.

Neither figure describes its strength nor its influence. The strength and extent of American Communism is to be measured by its effectiveness in dominating and using to its ends a large number of United Front organizations—some of which are headed by men and women who are not Communists but who are themselves being manipulated by Stalinists.

I have before me a list of about sixty organizations operating within the Communist United Front. Some of these organizations were originally started for purposes removed from the "party line" but in time Communist influence becomes increasingly apparent. How does one measure that? In the first place there is an interlocking number of names. Certain individuals who are known to be Communists or who, while denying Communist affiliations, always follow the "party line" as defined either by George Dimitroff or Earl Browder appear in the control of these organizations. Secondly, the literature they issue follows the "party line" as already described, and, lastly, when there is need for a demonstration which includes a joint protest of Communists and non-Communists, the names of these organizations and of the same group of individuals who usually head them are on hand.

These organizations are varied in their activities. As I am still in the process of compiling and checking this list I can here only give the category and the number of organizations in each category. This is tentative as I am sure that my present list is incomplete. Farmers' organizations, six, publishing three magazines; students, two organizations, one publication; youth, three organizations, two publications, consumers, five organizations, one publication; social workers, one organization, one publication; medical interests, one organization, one publication; social scientists, one organization, one publication; women, two organizations, one publication; aliens, one organization; Sinophiles, two organizations, one publication; Russophiles, one organization, one publication; Hispanophiles, one organization; Germanophiles, one organization; Jewish, one organization.

There are two pacifist organizations, one each for lawyers, professions, writers, readers, technicians, architects, war veterans, artists, dancers, clergy, sports travel. There are four specific labor organizations in this category. There are as well, two unemployed groups, two Negro groups, four organizations dealing with civil liberties, three with music, two with the intelligentsia and two with films.

Termines in Rear
Undermining Tradition
I am convinced that all the organizations on my list, which number literally millions of members, are part of the United Front movement. The advantage that the Communists have is the use of the non-Communist who operate in the front while in the rear the termines are at work undermining our national tradition.

These United Front organizations must not be termed direct Communist affiliates. They are not organized on that basis. Many persons who belong to them are not Communists. But if it ever came to a show of strength in the United States, it would be found that the Stalinists have developed sufficient strength in these organizations to use them as they desire.

The Communist party is no longer controlled by alien-born sympathizers of Soviet Russia. Its actual management in the United States is largely native-born American and most of its leaders are of old American stock. Earl Browder, William Z. Foster, Mother Bloor, Clarence Hathaway and many other leaders have replaced the Russian Jews who once were principal leaders. There has never been any question in my mind but that Jay Lovestone was replaced by Browder during the many shifts in policy in Moscow because Lovestone is a Jew and Moscow desired that the party in this country should be headed by a non-Jew of old American lineage.

In the United Front those who are selected to head up particular organizations often bear names which, of themselves, give a non-Communist appearance. No one expects a bishop or a professor of a conservative college to be a Communist. And often he is not a party member. He serves as a front and behind him the termites do their gnawing at the structure of American life.

Earl Browder has himself described the United Front in an address which he made before the Eighth Communist Congress. He then said:

"It is a question of fundamental strategy. It is a matter of a long time struggle, a long time perspective, a long time policy. It is not a mere trick in the struggle against the misadventures. It is a basic policy of struggle for the class unity of the workers against the bourgeoisie. Because we more thoroughly understand it in this sense, we are making progress."

And further in the same address he says:

"... This is our task—not only to bring in the already politically developed vanguard of the workers, but to bring in the millions of masses who will bring with them all their religious superstition, all of their reactionary ideology and to clarify them and to give them political consciousness in the course of the fight."

United Front Now
Completely Supports New Deal

The United Front now completely and absolutely supports the New Deal and Franklin D. Roosevelt. It was not always so. When the New Deal first appeared, Mr. Browder wrote: "Roosevelt's boom lasts only a little longer than Hoover's... Clearly, the engine of the N. R. A., which promised to pull us out of the crisis, is missing fire, it is backfiring. It is the same old engine trouble that wrecked the Hoover administration."

Again he said: "Roosevelt promised that the N. R. A. would increase the purchasing power of the toiling masses, the workers and farmers. But in reality the opposite has occurred. There has been a tremendous cut in real wages. Under Roosevelt and the N. R. A. the millions of workers are getting less food, less clothing, less shelter than they did under Hoover."

In another place he says of Roosevelt:

"The development of Roosevelt's program is a striking illustration of the fact that there is no Chinese wall between democracy and Fascism. Roosevelt operates with all of the arts of 'democratic' rule with an emphasized liberal and social-demagogic cover, quite a contrast with Hoover, who was outspokenly reactionary. Yet behind this smoke screen, Roosevelt is carrying out more thoroughly, more brutally than Hoover, the capitalist attack against the living standards of the masses and the sharpest national chauvinism in foreign relations."

This attitude toward Roosevelt and the New Deal, an attitude of open antagonism, changed into its subject support of the New Deal, after Dimitroff changed the policy of the American Communist party in 1935.

The reason seems to be clear. Browder states it when he says: "The social-fascists are the shock troops of finance capital in pushing the New Deal into the camp of the workers." The Communists believe that the New Deal will fail to solve the American economic crisis. They believe that the New Deal will only deepen the paradoxes which capitalism presents. They believe that the New Deal and its adherents will produce an Americanized Fascism, against which the masses will revolt. They believe that their United Front will be able to channel that revolt in the direction that they choose.

In a word, it is obvious from everything that has been written by Communist leaders from 1933 to 1938 that the New Deal became, an instrument of revolution by its errors and ineptitudes. The Communists support it because they

Under the CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN W. WYNGAARD

Madison—Perhaps you've noticed that the new state board of mental hygiene picked a director last week. If you watched closely you have noticed too that the job went to a Progressive.

Wyngaard, a Progressive, has not had any state jobs for a long time—have yet to prove that the new appointees are incompetent, but they are now and will continue to remark on that circumstance during the 1938 campaign. To them the LaFollette state was merely a cloak to hide a scheme to place favored Progressives in Big Jobs.

THE RECORD

Here's the recent record of key reorganization appointments in the capitol.

Grant Haas, leading Progressive, to the directorship of the department of mental hygiene. (Mrs. Haas is women's director of National Progressive of America, and formerly high executive in the state WPA office).

George Keith, Progressive product of Dr. Commons' famed economics family, supervisor of inspection and enforcement, a reorganization job.

Calmer Brow, director of the public service commission, Progressive.

Ralph E. Ammon, director of the department of agriculture and markets. Although Ammon has no particular political background, and was picked over Wilbur G. Carlson, an ardent Progressive, he is regarded as one of the administration's own.

John Thiel, member of the Progressive state central committee, director of the state tax commission. (He is still a member of the party committee).

All of the jobs carry salaries ranging from $5,000 to $7,000. It may be noted too that P. D. Flanner, whom Senator Duffy is now supposedly determined to remove from his WPA office, is universally considered to be slated for the $7,000 post as director of the new department of social adjustment, a product of the reorganization program. He is also a LaFollette in-mate.

Only big job handed out lately which didn't fall to a Progressive was the directorship of the department of commerce, a $7,000 assignment, which went to William F. Ashe, Kaukauna industrialist, who wants it known that he "never voted for Phil LaFollette in his life".

Two big appointments remain to be made—director of the department of corrections, and director of the industrial commission, both $7,000 a year positions. The line forms to the right of the governor's door.

YOUTH DRAWS YOUTH

Together these new state officers comprise an administration fraternity at the statehouse, an inner circle, powerful and energetic. As a group they form the executive council and meet regularly at weekly luncheons with the governor. With him they now completely dominate the state government. In a sense they form his cabinet. Working in close harmony with their chief, they are leaving many of the official old-timers under the capitol dome out in the cold.

A noteworthy fact about this new group of administration advisors is their youth. A young governor seems bent on surrounding himself with young blood in important places.

IN DENMARK

Escaping general notice because of the remoteness of the town in which he addressed the county asylum officers of the state recently were the cogent remarks of Wisconsin's distinguished psychiatrist, Dr. W. F. Lorenz, chairman of the board of mental hygiene at the capitol, and internationally recognized expert on mental ills. To him it seemed that there is "something rotten in Denmark" because he recently found an overload of one third—300 patients apiece—in the state insane hospitals at Mendota and Oshkosh while the 37 county institutions had 600 vacancies.

The discrepancy Dr. Lorenz attributed to the fact that state hospitals are keeping patients who have passed the treatment stage—and so properly belong in county asylums—because they are useful for institutional labor. He learned of one patient who was kept at a state hospital for the purpose of treatment, or with the expectation of recovery; or, if recovery was expected the hope for such transcends anything that I have ever personally experienced," he said.

MINUTE PORTRAIT

Of John Winter, Everett, . . . Everybody knows Winter, or at least everybody who pretends to have even a slight acquaintance with state political affairs. Now in his late 60's, he is probably the best known political reporter in the state. He has been writing about Wisconsin politics for half a century and now approaches as close to the legendary as anyone in these parts ever will.

Everett is an associate editor of one of Madison's two dailies, one of the oldest journals in the state, and unwaveringly Republican. There are found Everett's daily comments on what is abroad in state politics and what is hatching in the minds of Wisconsin political leaders. Such reports have a flavor all of their own; only Winter could produce them.

For Winter the statehouse walls truly have ears. A walk through the corridors with thoughtful mien—and there is enough material for the daily article, on a good day, enough for two or three. Long ago he gave up the ordinary method of the political reporter, the direct interview; that's for the unimaginative.

Winter's great predilection in column material is the agrarian revolt which is ever developing in Wisconsin. At least once in each fortnight the subscriber can read in Madison's Republican organ that "the farmers of Wisconsin are in revolt against the LaFollette administration". Election returns don't impress him.

Another great diversion is the discovery of "calls for a candidacy" of great numbers and varieties of people for high public office. A suggestion in a hotel lobby, the stray, vague comment of a visiting politico, big or small—frequently not even that much—and he is off.

Someone long ago amusingly described Winter's excessive fertility of imagination by quoting his best known phrase, "echoes of the coming fight". J. Winter Everett is an inseparable part of the state capital scene.

HISTORICAL FOOTNOTE

In the light of Governor LaFollette's anticipated but unprecedented fourth term campaign, it is enlightening to review a little Wisconsin history.

Most of Wisconsin's governors were elected for only one term, and less have been chosen for two terms than for three. Governor LaFollette is the sixth state executive returned to the highest office three times.

The others were Fairchild and Rusk in the last century, the senior LaFollette, Philipp and Blaine in the present. The longest term served by any governor was that of "Uncle Jerry" Rusk, later the first American secretary of agriculture, who held office for seven years due to a change in the date for the beginning of the term during his tenure.

It is worth noting too that Governor LaFollette at the end of his third term is only 41, younger than anyone elected to the governorship since 1872. Since Gov. Washburn's day all governors have been elected when they were over 45, most when they were over 50. And no governor has ever sought a fourth term in Wisconsin.

ODDS AND ENDS

James C. Hanson of Dane county, who has voted "aye" and "no" on more bills than any other man living in Wisconsin today, is seeking his 21st term in the state assembly. A Progressive, he has served continuously since 1916. In his announcement he urged that Governor LaFollette and Lieutenant Governor Ekern be "drafted" for the governorship and the senate this fall.

Paul R. Alfonsi, Progressive speaker of the assembly in 1937, who never forgets to write in his Blue Book biography that he is the only Corsican ever elected to the state legislature in Wisconsin, will get some stiff opposition at home this fall in his campaign for reelection. William Yeschek, prosperous resort man in Vilas county, will be his foe, and with the help of district party men, it is said, Yeschek made known his intentions after a conference in the executive office the other day.

Alfonsi, incidentally, changes his mind often. Some months ago he was running for the United States senate. When party chieftains pretty generally looked down their noses at this without enthusiasm, he examined the congressional situation. Deciding that Representative Gehrman couldn't be beaten—at least not by Alfonsi—he announced that he was retiring to practice law. Now he is back running for his assembly seat, the fourth if he is successful.

make up his mind whether or not to run for the senate, including some of those in the party who would like to succeed him in the house. . . . See Changes in Administration Of State, County Institutions

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—If recent utterances of its chairman can be taken as a gauge, the new state board of mental hygiene will enter upon its duties with some very specific ideas for changes in the administration of state and county institutions for the insane.

The board, which will lay down an administrative policy for the state's many institutions for the mentally diseased and will exercise a supervisory control over 37 county insane asylums was formally organized last week with the selection of Grant Haas, Madison, as its director.

Its chairman is Dr. W. F. Lorenz, internationally famed mental disease expert, professor of neuropsychiatry at the medical school of the University of Wisconsin and director of the state psychiatric institute.

Sees Opportunity

Dr. Lorenz recently announced that he sees an opportunity in Wisconsin "to develop a system of care for mental cases that will surpass anything that exists anywhere in the United States, or elsewhere." That system, he added, will entail complete state support of all mental institutions, including those in the counties and a unified system of medical and hospital care.

In addition, Dr. Lorenz feels that there should be a change in the system of transferring patients from state to county institutions, and an improvement in the medical personnel of the county hospitals so that every mental patient in the state, wherever he may be confined, will be able to receive the same expert care as any other one in Wisconsin.

Especially significant is Dr. Lorenz' position on the question of state support of county asylums. At present, he points out, counties receive $2.25 a week per patient for the maintenance and care at a county institution.

Want More Money

"I think this is all wrong," he has informed county asylum superintendents. "I believe state care is state care. I think the county institution should get the amount of money necessary to provide all the proper care required by the patient. I believe that approximately $100 a year extra per patient is the minimum appropriation that the state should make to the county institutions. I believe that the whole financial load should be borne by the state, but with provisions that the county institutions keep up to a minimum standard of medical service and general care. If so accredited it should receive the maximum appropriation from the state which I personally believe must be in the neighborhood of 75 cents per day per patient."

With such state support, county patients would be assured of proper care and treatment, according to Lorenz, who has announced that he will support, as chairman of the state mental hygiene board, any effort which the counties may make in this direction before the next state legislature.

I'VE BEEN GROWING TOBACCO FOR MANY A YEAR! AND FOR YEARS MY BEST LOTS OF TOBACCO HAVE GONE TO CAMEL. OF COURSE, THE CAMEL BUYERS HAVE TO PAY MORE TO GET THE CHOICER GRADES. Recipes You Can Trust!!!

HOW many times have you tried recipes heard over the radio, or printed in magazines and newspapers only to find the finished product unsatisfactory, or, if satisfactory, to be so expensive as to be impractical for the family of average means?

Hundreds of women have had this experience, it is not surprising that many housekeepers distrust menus and recipes offered in this manner.

With this in mind, the Post-Crescent has arranged to print only recipes that have been thoroughly tested in a home kitchen and found practical from every viewpoint.

Miss Marie Schneider, an experienced and talented cook, working right here in Appleton, will have tested every recipe, every menu, under actual home conditions, before it is offered Post-Crescent readers, so that every element of chance has been removed. If Miss Schneider approves the recipe you can be sure it is GOOD.

These recipes will be found on the Woman's Page, in a special home helps department, every Tuesday and Friday.

Democrats Still Speculating Over State Candidates

Convention at Fond du Lac Should Determine Party's Primary Slate

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Observers of state politics, mystified for many weeks by the inactivity in the state Democratic organization and the singular absence of discussion of candidates for the governorship, today picked out of a hat some names which speculation points to possibilities for the gubernatorial endorsement at the Fond du Lac convention Friday.

Senator F. Ryan Duffy will be the candidate of the Democrats for the United States senate, and according to appearances now, will have no opposition in the primary. These, according to party gossip, are the men who may get the nod at the Democratic rally Friday at Fond du Lac:

James Corcoran, Webster, chairman of the party's state central committee. Corcoran, however, has given no sign that he is an active candidate.

Jerry Fox, Chilton, extremely youthful party leader, who will be the convention key-note. A former assemblyman and party floor-leader in the legislature, he recently resigned as counsel for the Wisconsin division of the HOLC. He is a son of the late Leo P. Fox, long-time party chieftain and once candidate for governor.

Room For Henry

A. J. Thelen, Madison, leader of the powerful Wisconsin County Boards association, and a native of De Pere. Thelen, who has repeatedly denied that he is a candidate for anything, persists in current political gossip, although long-time capital observers have never been sure that he is a Democrat or a Republican, so discreet has been his activity since he became prominent in state affairs.

Robert K. Henry, Jefferson, former Democratic state treasurer, and coalition candidate for the governorship. Understood to have alienated some of the party's leaders, particularly Corcoran, by showing enthusiastic approval of the state Republican party and platform, he will have a delegation on hand at the convention to root for him.

J. R. McQuillin, Antigo, present chief of the HOLC in Wisconsin, his was the first name hit upon by Democrats seeking eligible timber early this summer.

A. M. Werner of Sheboygan, former high New Dealer in the state, and supposedly a favorite of C. E. Broughton, the chief Roosevelt liaison man in Wisconsin.

So far, it appears, Henry's campaign is the only one actually launched with seriousness. But with abundant signs that the state Democratic party is eagerly courting Washington support, pre-convention predictions said that he was the candidate least likely to get convention approval, since he has recently removed all doubt seven, president of the club since its organization, has declined to run again.

The nomination committee has recommended the following candidates for the various offices: president, P. A. Lockschmidt and George A. Sauter, vice president, Clarence Fleweger and Gustave Hanges; secretary, Ray Schwanke and Gordon Welch; and treasurer, Ray Schellout and Ray Mauthe.

The nominating committee also was instructed to offer suggestions for the good of the club and has proposed:

That an executive committee be formed which would consist of the president, secretary and five others appointed by the president. They would pass on all proposals brought up before the club as well as offering suggestions for the good of the club.

That the president and vice president be elected each year and cannot serve more than two terms. The secretary will be elected for a two year period and will serve only one term while the treasurer be elected for a three year term and a new one elected at the end of that period.

That the club be made an important factor in village affairs. Club members have offered suggestions. The village board has been petitioned to provide adequate picnic facilities at Sunset Point, including a lighting system.

That entertainment be provided at meetings. The chairman will be selected by the president to arrange a program for each meeting which would include refreshments as well as entertainment.

That members be notified of the annual picnic by card, and, in turn, notify the secretary if they plan to attend the outing. This would cut the cost considerably. Club dues must be paid on or before the day of picnic.

Other officers whose term expires are Ed Zitlow, vice president; Gordon Welch, secretary; and Ray Schellout, treasurer. The nominating committee includes Joe Sandhofer, chairman; Fred Paulus, Harry Krickamp and Henry Vanden Boogaard.

'CRIME WAVE'

Jackson, Wyo.—The Jackson hole country, rendezvous for cattle thieves in pioneer days, has a "crime wave." County Attorney W. W. Nielson reported $1,000 worth of merchandise has been stolen from parked cars and stores of the "hole," during recent weeks. The "hole," where entire herds of stolen cattle were hidden successfully in horse and buggy days, now caters to big game hunters and fishermen.

- Two Extra Layers of Gum-Dipped Cords under the tread, another patented Firestone construction feature, protect against punctures.
- Scientifically-Designed Non-Skid Tread made of tough slow-wearing rubber, assures safer stops and longer non-skid mileage.

Now that Firestone gives you all of these safety and economy features at these low prices, you cannot afford to take chances with unsafe tires this summer. LIMITS OF POLITICAL POWER

Bruce Barton who went to congress but two years ago as an independent Republican in a district that has been Democratic, recently submitted to a New England meeting of Young Republicans some valuable observations when he said:

"Congress in both branches has too many 100-per centers. Men run for office on the platform that they are '100 per cent New Deal' or '100 per cent anti-New Deal'; '100 per cent capital' or '100 per cent labor'."

"A 100-per center is a man whose mind is on a sit-down strike. He is a rubber stamp. Our slogan should be:—Stamp out the rubber stamps. Give us representatives who are men. Men who will support the President when he is right and stand like a rock against him when he is wrong. Men who will cast a vote for their own hurt and change not. Men who will stand on their own two feet and consult no boss but their consciences, who will take no orders but their oath of office."

In addition Mr. Barton called attention to the limitations of Mr. Roosevelt, or any president for that matter, and the utter impossibility of creating the condition we call prosperity through the means employed.

Mr. Barton is not only clearly right but by now he will be able to get attentive listeners who may be convinced that the country needs neither a Miracle Man, a Medicine Man nor a Melody Man, but only someone who has enough mental acuteness to ascertain that if he, acting on behalf of the government, takes an increasing number of billions out of the common pot there will be just that much less to be put to work at useful endeavor.

So now we must conclude that the President can call names but he cannot make jobs. He can increase the long list of men and women hired solely to sing his praises and kid the country but he cannot create jobs. He can pass laws raising taxes but, strange to relate, that is not going to make jobs. He can create regulations making it more and more difficult for banks to loan surplus funds, and the more difficult this is made, once the line of reason is passed, the more difficult it is for all to make jobs.

In other words the President can, with a supporting congress, do a pile of things he may call reform, raise wages above the value of many marginal workers, and reduce the hours of labor below a necessary number to create sustaining wealth, but every time such a proposal is put forward to benefit a country that needs more jobs, it only tends to emphasize the sterility of this administration when it seeks to restore the thing we want most, the normal condition called prosperity.

Mr. Barton concluded with the declaration that normal conditions can only be found when we find a spirit of cooperation between all, a spirit that this administration says it seeks to find but when it was about upon it, closed its eyes and went in the other direction.

Mr. Roosevelt appears to be the reincarnation of that character of Dumas's in The Three Musketeers who said, "I have a profound theory but my practice is limited."

JUST A BIT OF RAILWAY NEWS

The Baltimore and Ohio is a railroad that has gotten along fairly well, feeding as it does a populous country between Chicago and the Atlantic.

But even it operated in the red in 1937. Handling nearly 200 million dollars worth of business during that year the Baltimore and Ohio would have come out with a $500 profit had it not been for one item. Its taxes, which had been 11 millions the year before, were raised. They weren't raised much, just a mere bag of peanuts to rulers in this land, only $720,000.

And that's the amount the railroad operated in the red.

Our taxation system is not built upon "ability to pay," at least not entirely. Like the variety to be found in a 10-cent store we have all kinds of taxes.

You pay if you have the money and you pay if you don't.

Certainly an increase like the one with the B & O must have been a great inducement to increase employment.

A GOATERY

The American people have become goodnaturally wise to the necessity of scapegoats in our politics. Indeed the statesman who cannot pick an appropriate goat to kick around and blame for his own errors and miscarriages is lacking in mental astuteness.

Mr. Roosevelt started out with Tories, jumped to Economic Royalists, and is now denouncing Copperheads. He has shown some originality in the selection of epithets with a punch and a history.

Down in Mexico things so slower. Socialists are intense and yet quite often dumb. The first scapegoat there was the Church. Burning and barricading scores of these edifices, barring even public services by members of the cloth, failed to get the magnificent effect by way of prosperity that was promised. So another goat was selected. This time it was the oil companies. Were they not wealthy? Did they not rob the poor Mexican of his heritage? If they were stripped would not the Mexican be wealthy? Same old Socialist doctrine that a good dinner off the goose will repeat itself just as often as the golden eggs.

Foxy statesmen, like most of ours in America, use scapegoats only to get votes. They know that they are exposed and lost if they destroy the scapegoat. The mentally duller Socialists down in Mexico foolishly took the scapegoat business to heart. They really believed the nonsense and, poor as they are, they are becoming more poverty-stricken every day just as they follow the whims of political controversy and continue to make extravagant promises of an idealistic state in return for political support.

But with the Church down, more than half smothered, and the oil companies out, the Mexican government is becoming desperate for another scapegoat since conditions are worse than ever. In its extremity it is transgressing on Hitler ground by inviting an anti-Jewish campaign. It will delude no one by having this campaign originate with the Federation of Mexican Workers. That labor organization is under the thumb of the government. When it adopts resolutions against some devil you may be sure the government drew the resolutions for it.

Now it is asking the government to drive the Jews out of Mexico though their number is so small they are hard to find, and yet nothing makes so good a scapegoat as that which is scarce. Stories grow bigger and scatter wider when the scapegoat cannot even be seen.

BARCELONA AND HUMAN METHODS

The Barcelona government has invoked for the first time the proffered British plan to humanize the civil war by requesting an impartial, and therefore neutral, investigation of the recent air raids on Blanes, a Catalan city.

A request of this character so long delayed loses the potency it might otherwise have. Although the atrocious nature of a Franco attack upon an unoffending village in his path is evident enough the Barcelona government manifestly delayed requesting intervention to ascertain the truth because once neutrals intervene to examine into the facts, Barcelona can no longer conceal its own horrible record.

In war, as elsewhere, everything is relative. Franco's attack on Blanes is certainly an atrocity judged by American standards of warfare. But Franco isn't fighting an army that could be readily identified as civilized, or if the army is entitled to that description the government back of it certainly is not.

It will be hard for people to distinguish between killing women, children and old men by bombing their homes, and killing them, as the Red government so constantly did, through bands of hoodlums or marauders who slew with abandon, without trial or any pretense of justice, just to appease the hatred that simmers forever in weak souls once touched by the Red blight.

A Verse for Today

GIRL GRADUATE

It was a few short weeks ago
That she addressed her senior class.
Her eyes with knowledge were aglow . . .
She was a most determined lass.
As she outlined for all to hear
The meaning of her planned career.

Now all examinations done,
She makes a new plan every day.
Ere her career was well begun,
She put all thoughts of it away.
Now languid in a gay porch swing,
She smiles at her engagement ring.

Dale Harrison's In Old New York

New York—Herbert Hoover is one of New York's longest distance commuters, coming across the continent several times a year to attend board meetings. Those who know him best remark how much happier he has appeared to be in the last few years.

A friend and I passed the former President on Park avenue recently. My companion, now a concert artists' manager but formerly a salesman, remarked:

"Mr. Hoover doesn't remember me."
"Is there any reason he should?" I asked.
"A very good reason," my companion replied, and told me this story:

It was in Washington 13 years ago. Hoover was Secretary of Commerce. My friend was a salesman for electric refrigerators, then comparatively new. The Hoover home used the old fashioned icebox, and my friend was determined to sell him an electric refrigerator. The trouble was, Mr. Hoover was difficult to reach. Learning that the Secretary was entertaining a few friends at dinner on the night of August 23, 1927, the salesman rented evening clothes, hired a limousine and drove ceremoniously to the Hoover home.

"I remember the date," he said, "because on that very night Sacco and Vanzetti were executed at Charlestown prison."

The servants, impressed by the salesman's assurance, admitted him, but they said the Secretary was entertaining and could not be disturbed.

"Tell him Mr. Blank of Chicago is here and that the matter is urgent," the salesman said.

Mr. Hoover, leaving his dinner guests, came out. When he saw his visitor was a man he did not know, he hesitated. The salesman, suddenly realizing that this was the night of the Sacco-Vanzetti execution and that the Secretary may have feared violence — for there was much talk of it in Washington then — advanced slowly, with both hands in full view before him. No bombs!

"I wish to discuss the matter of electric refrigeration with you," the salesman began. "I hope you will not think me presumptuous."

"I most certainly do think you are presumptuous," Mr. Hoover said. "This is no time for such business."

They talked for a few minutes, the Secretary being surprisingly courteous in the face of the salesman's gall. He finally suggested that the salesman return the next day and talk with the housekeeper. "I shall tell her to expect you," Mr. Hoover said.

The salesman called the following day: and that is how it came about that the Hoover home in Washington acquired its first electric refrigerator.

Ignace Jan Paderewski, the eminent Polish pianist whose first movie, made in England, has been attracting attention in New York, once contracted to play a recital in Palo Alto, California. He was to receive $2,500, but at the last minute he was informed that the class of Leland Stanford University which was sponsoring the recital could raise only $1,000.

Paderewski played nevertheless. After the recital, the president of the class came to him, gave him the $1,000, and said: "Sir, we are chagrined at our failure to pay the amount originally agreed upon. Most of us are going to work this summer, and we will earn enough money to pay you the $1,500 difference. We had hoped to make enough from the concert not only to pay you $2,500 but to raise an extra $1,000 as a scholarship award for one of our fellow students."

Paderewski promptly handed the $1,000 back to the young man. "Let this money take care of the scholarship," he said, "and forget about the rest of the money."

That was nearly 45 years ago. Paderewski went on to become one of the world's greatest pianists and one of Poland's greatest patriots. The president of the university class did pretty well, too. He was Herbert Hoover.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—N. Capitol Hill photographer considers the day well spent until he has caught a senator in some informal pose, and so it was that two of them gang-ed up on Senator Norris of Nebraska at a quiet, rather unimportant hearing.

They wanted him to yawn so they could catch him with his mouth agape. Nothing malicious about it; the boys just like an unusual shot like that, and the senators take it in good spirit. They moved in front of him, cameras all set, and began faking yawns. Norris watched them, his high-arched eyebrows giving him a perpetual look of innocent surprise, but he did not yawn.

Whenever his attention wavered, the photographers jiggled their cameras, slyly repeating their yawns.

Norris would not respond, but back of him a row of spectators caught the infection. Their yawns affected another bank of spectators across the room and behind the two cameramen. This new row of yawns opened squarely in front of the several senators at the hearing table and some of them yawned, but not Senator Norris.

The situation became so funny that the lads had to run for it, or take a round of good-natured razzing.

Funny At The Time

The president's press conference is not infrequently turned into family gatherings, with several Roosevelts present to enjoy the exchanges between papa and the newspapermen. At a recent one following the Roosevelt-Clark wedding, Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, tall, blonde and pretty, sat in on the show. The president was in high humor and not infrequently two Roosevelt laughs were going at a time.

At one point reporters asked about a stack of what appeared to be graduation certificates. The president said these were merely certificates of appointment of officials who had been baptized into federal service. Anna, sitting sally, The whole press corps joined with her in laughing at another one.

The president said he was to spend a day as guest of Eugene DuPont, father-in-law of Franklin, Jr., during a celebration in connection with the arrival of Swedish colonists in Delaware. After the visit, he said, he would journey down the coast to where they landed on the rock—the Swedes, not the DuPonts.

Strangely enough, many of the president's quips are "atmospheric" in that they are funny at the time but fall dead with the retelling outside the electric zone of the press conferences.

Sons Unlike Father

It develops at this point that sons of Rocky Mountain senators like to work in the fathers' offices but as yet have shown no hankering for political careers.

Senators Murray of Montana Schwartz of Wyoming and Hatch and Cnavez of New Mexico each have a son working in their offices. Some of the boys are studying on the side—but not for political careers.

Your Birthday

"CANCER"

If July 6 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m., and from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:30 to 10:30 a. m., from 5:30 to 7:30 p. m., and from 9:30 to 11:30 p. m.

There may be many circumstances that will cause you to become disturbed mentally, unless you are careful. Do not indulge in self-pity, or mull over fancied grievances. Keep busy this day, for activity is apt to be the only preventive you can count on to save you from a feeling of dissatisfaction with the world in general. Numerous ways to make money might be revealed to the earnest seeker. If your plan for any kind of social diversion involves someone else you had better consult that person to make sure the plan is carried out. It might pay you to be nice to someone you have a good reason to dislike. Married and engaged couples, and those who are in love, must avoid deceit, if they wish to get through the day without quarrelling.

If a woman and July 6 is your birthday, there are many indications that you will make a great success of your life. Don't allow temporary setbacks to discourage you. Make all the friends you can, for the time is likely to come when your friends will be your most valuable asset. You might have to learn to be methodical before you can make the progress you should. Reading ought to be one of your favorite forms of relaxation. You are probably very considerate of the feelings of other people, particularly if they work for or with you. Through painting, sculpturing, writing, acting or selling you may make a reputation second to none. Every phase of your married life is likely to be exactly as you hoped.

The child born on July 6 should have exceptional intelligence. A good disposition and a ready sense of humor will win him many friends. If a man and July 6 is your natal

Personal Health Talks

SUN AND SINUSITIS

Unfortunately for health and success and happiness in life the average layman cherishes a notion that the benefit invalids derive from a sojourn in Bermuda, Banff, The Adirondacks, Egypt, Colorado Springs, Hawaii, Nice or Mexico is due to some mysterious healing power or health-giving virtue of the climate. This imaginary magic of change of climate is responsible for many disappointments for ill-advised seekers of cure, and for much futile yearning on the part of invalids who are unable to change climate in that way.

I believe benefit sufferers with various chronic respiratory diseases derive from change of climate are actually attributable to factors already readily described: (1) better air-conditioning, (2) more sunshine, and (3) in some cases the more hygienic living habits inspired by precept and example in the health resort environment.

All three factors are within reach of the invalid who must remain at home.

Of course, the more cloud, fog, smoke or dust in the air the less sunshine reaches the earth. This is one reason why respiratory diseases are so prevalent among the poorer city dwellers in industrial cities where the air is constantly heavily laden with smoke, carbon, acid, ash, and one reason why chronic "catarrh," chronic bronchitis, chronic sinusitis and similar troubles are difficult to cure.

The health conserving and health building influence of sunlight depends, not so much on the amount of sunshine available in a given place at a given time of year, but upon the amount of exposure of the naked skin to the sun. Without going into lengthy discussion the principle is briefly that, for health's sake, one should never take shelter from sunshine or even diffuse sky-shine, nor wear any protection or cover to exclude sunshine from the skin, when it is not absolutely necessary to do so. This does not imply that one need make a crank or a fool of himself; on the other hand, most people are irrational in their avoidance of such exposure.

It seems fairly well established now that vitamin D deficiency (sunshine vitamin), which is almost universal among civilized people, renders one not only more susceptible to respiratory troubles (particularly chronic rhinitis, chronic sinusitis, chronic bronchitis and pulmonary tuberculosis) but is also an important factor in asthma, hay fever, hyperesthetic rhinitis, allergy, hives, giant hives (angioneurotic edema), periodic sick headache (migraine) and, at least in my own opinion, that irritability or weakness commonly known as "nerves" or neurasthenia.

People too often do not know, or if they know they too readily forget, that exposure of naked skin to direct sunlight is the natural way to get the vitamin D which is so essential for health and vigor.

Hydrocele

What causes hydrocele? Can it be permanently drained? What day, you probably have a remarkable amount of self-control. You should have very good taste, particularly in the matter of clothing. does such an operation cost? (R.H.S.)

Answer: Cause unknown. As a rule withdrawal of the serum or watery fluid from the swelling gives only temporary relief—the fluid reaccumulates in a few months. Injection, after the method devised and given to the profession by the late Dr. Norman J. Kilbourne of Los Angeles, is the best treatment. This does not require hospitalization or detention from business.

Egg Allergy

Can eggs affect one who is subject to sinus trouble? Husband formerly had sinus trouble, not recently until he began eating eggs for breakfast, and this seemed to bring back the trouble. (Mrs. D. J. M.)

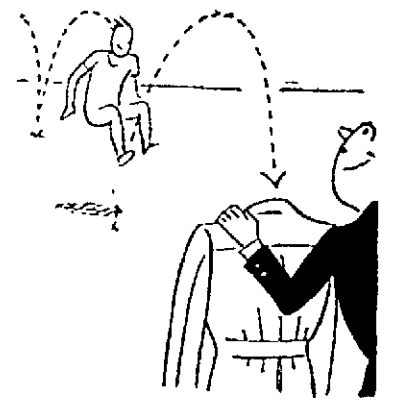

Answer—Yes, if the individual happens to be allergic or sensitive to egg white or egg yolk.

Leukoplakia

I have a patch of what the doctors call leukoplakia on my cheek inside the mouth, and no treatment has given any results so far. (W. H. A.)

Answer: Sometimes presence of dissimilar metals such as gold and amalgams or steel or chrome alloys sets up tiny galvanic battery action in mouth and produces such irritation and sores. Test of this would be removal of the inferior metal and replacement of denture with gold.

City Recreation Program Attracts 11,000 in Month

New Regulations Govern Use of Kaukauna Swimming Places

Kaukauna—A total attendance of more than 11,000 at Kaukauna summer recreational activities was announced this morning for last month by Clifford H. Kemp, recreational director. Swimming attendance at the Fourth rock totaled 1,894, divided between 1,001 boys and 893 girls; at the quarry 2,011 boys and 1,145 girls swam, while in the municipal pool an attendance of 1,655 boys and 1,895 girls was recorded. Playground attendance was 2,050 boys and 580 girls.

New regulations governing the use of the swimming spots were submitted by Kemp to a meeting of the public health and education committee of the council Friday night and were approved by them.

Swimming will in the future be supervised at the Fourth rock from 1 o'clock in the afternoon until 8 o'clock at night. Parents are asked to send their children only at these hours as no guard will be on duty in the morning. Swimming in the lock itself is prohibited.

At the quarry, which the committee deemed more hazardous, three lifeguards will work in shifts. Supervised swimming will be held from 9 in the morning until 9 at night. Two guards will be on duty from 1 to 3, as in these hours the attendance is heaviest. Gene Driesen, George Bloch and Ves Hanby are the guards. No diving will be allowed from the high walls of the quarry, and no swimming on the north side. Swimmers are to stay in a group and swim near the pump house. Smaller children must stay in the shallow water at the east end of the quarry.

A 20 by 20 raft is being constructed and will be placed near the pump house. No one is to swim across the quarry. A small shanty for a girls' dressing room will be ready this week. The lifeguards have first aid kits for emergencies.

High School Farm Students Work on Summer Projects

Kaukauna—When Kaukauna High school closes its door in mid-June the ordinary student has some three months vacation before him. But to the boys in the agriculture classes the interim before fall means some of their most important work. During the summer they endeavor to put into practice what they have learned in the regular session, and all carry on projects designed to give them practical training in farming. James T. Judd, vocational agricultural instructor, is kept busy supervising these farmers of the future.

A student may take over the raising and culling of a flock of 200 roosters, or put 20 cows through their paces for the summer. He may have a project testing herds, or growing hybrid corn, or raising calves, some raise calves or pigs, and others try their luck with capons. All in all, the class this summer has charge of almost 2,000 chickens, some 35 acres of land, 150 cows, four pigs, seven calves, two sheep and one garden plot.

Serves 3 Purposes

This supervised farm practice serves three purposes, Judd said. First, it is productive enterprise, a business venture for profit. Secondly, it is an improvement project, intended to increase materially the value of a farm, and lastly it develops the ability to perform certain specific farm duties, such as culling poultry, treating grain for disease, and testing herds of cattle. The youths are trained to keep an accurate accounting of profits and expenditures.

Twenty-one students are engaged this summer in such work. They are Robert Stanelle, Harold De Groot, William De Groot, Robert Killian, Lester Auden, Clifford Johnson, Leland Golden, Donald Johnson.

James Strick Harvey Mathes, Elroy Peters, William Schiefelbusch, Irvin Hopfensperger, Maynard Peters, Gerald Mahn, Harry Wuyts, Richard Bohm, Florian Ebben, James Brick, Eugene Keller and Francis Gilbert.

Council to Hear Report on Audit

Aldermen will begin Work Under New Schedule Tonight

Kaukauna—A report on the annual audit of the city books recently completed by a Milwaukee firm will be presented to the council tonight at its July meeting by Alderman Oscar Alger, chairman of the finance committee. The meeting will begin at 7 o'clock, according to the provisions of an ordinance passed at the meeting of June 30 changing the starting time to an hour earlier.

Alderman Walter Kilgas, chairman of the ordinance committee, will present a resolution to the council for approval, asking federal and state highway commissioners to improve Highway 41 so that it will become a superhighway from Green Bay to Chicago. Approval is but a formality, as the councilmen directed that such a resolution be drawn.

A letter from William Coffman, Fond du Lac highway commissioner, read at the June 21 meeting, suggested that Kaukauna join other Fox River cities in requesting such a program.

The fire and police commission may report on the possibility of trading in the old fire truck on a police car. The monthly reports of the city sealer, relief director and chief of police will be received, bills allowed and routine business transacted.

Registrations for the contest will be accepted the rest of this week. Students receive colored pennants for books read. Those having the most are declared the winners at the end of the contest, which lasts for six weeks, closing August 12.

Those in the contest so far are Lawrence Gerend, Richard McCarty, David Gustman, Thomas Gerend, Leland Coon, Donald Coon, Helen Steidl, Helen Lemke, Mary Mulholland, Mark Martin.

Estimate Pack of Canning Factory At 50,000 Cases

Total Production Expected To be 30,000 Cases Under Last Year

Kaukauna—A case pack of about 50,000 cases, as compared to about 80,000 last year, will be produced this summer at the Baker Canning company's Dundas factory. President Robert Baker said yesterday. Approximately 750 acres are under contract, slightly less than last year.

The recent heavy rains have slowed operations somewhat, Baker reported. The sudden hot weather the third week in June also caused them to skip part of the early pea crop, as the peas ripened too quickly to handle. If rain continues it may be necessary to omit part of the late acreage, Baker added. About three-fifths of the contract acres are of the early variety and the remainder the late.

The early pea pack was begun on June 21 and was finished last Saturday night. Packing of the late variety will be begun today and will last from two to three weeks. About 100 are employed at the plant, with women working 8-hour shifts and men as high as 16.

The crop in general, while good, is not yielding as well as last year. Pea lice have given some trouble, and all the late variety acres have been sprayed for this pest.

Kaukauna's Fourth Of July Celebration Almost Trouble-Free

Kaukauna—With only one accident from firecrackers requiring a physician's treatment, no automobile accidents and no traffic arrests Kaukauna went through its most uneventful 2-day Fourth of July holiday in years. Miss Esther Coonen, Little Chute, received leg burns from a firecracker Sunday afternoon at LaFollette park. After first aid treatment at the Red Cross tent there she was taken to a physician for anti-lockjaw serum. Minor injuries such as cuts and bruises also were treated during the 2-day Legion picnic, attended by 10,000. One of the acrobatic performers suffered a torn ligament when he missed a barrel in his act and landed on the stage. Two boys forgot to let go of lighted firecrackers and were treated for slight burns.

GOOD THINGS FOR THE HOME

Marie Schneider's Tested Recipes

Some of My Most Popular Recipes
What makes certain recipes stand out as particularly popular? Offhand it is hard to say — recipes are like people — occasionally it is something exotic and unusual in their make-up that makes folks like them. More often I find it is just plain every day goodness and adaptability, qualities you can depend upon.

Miss Schneider

The recipe for Orange Rolls, the greatest favorite of all is a little different from the ordinary rolls. People tell me they are not only good but "the best ever." I attribute the popularity of the Devil's Food Cake not only to its rich chocolate flavor but also to the fact that it is a moist cake that stays moist. The reason not filling and fudge frosting make it doubly delicious.

1 cup chopped nuts
1 egg white beaten stiff
Combine sugar, cornstarch, salt and water in sauce pan. Cook over low flame until thick, stirring constantly. Add raisins and nuts. Fold into the stiffly beaten egg white. Cool. Spread between layers of cake. Makes enough filling to spread between two 9-inch layers.

My Neighbor Says—

Red spiders are very much in evidence this season, and do much damage to evergreen trees and shrubs. When evergreens of any kind begin to show brown or red spots, the presence of this pest can be suspected. Daily spraying with a strong stream of water from the hose is helpful. A more effective plan is to dust the plants with a mixture of dry sulphur and dry tobacco dust in equal parts. The sulphur should be the kind purchased in seed stores and not the kind sold in drug stores. The first dusting should be done at this time, and repeated three or four times in the course of the season. If the number of trees or shrubs to be dusted is small, an ordinary hand bellows or dusting gun can be used.

The old-fashioned hoe is the most effective means of controlling weeds.

Always turn back two or three inches when making the heading for a curtain. This allows for shrinkage when curtains are washed.

Boil all linens used in a sick room, rinse and hang in the sun. (Copyright, 1938)

GOOD STUFFING FOR EGGS

Use a variety of fillings to stuff the hard-cooked eggs you prepare this summer. Combine any of the following with the yolks: minced sardines, chopped cucumbers, cooked meat, fish or fowl, cooked vegetables, assorted cheese, chopped pickles or olives. Roughly re-fill the whites and chill. You may add a little salad dressing to moisten and season the stuffing.

ANTI-BURNING NOTE

Lightly prick each cocktail sausage with a knitting needle — to prevent it from bursting during cooking. Put the sausages into a frying pan, cover them with water and let them simmer five minutes. Drain off the water and brown the sausages. Insert wooden picks and stick the other ends of the picks into a large red apple.

Fried mush is often served with fried chicken. To prepare the mush mold it in a loaf pan. Chill it until it is firm. Then cut it into fourth-inch slices and sprinkle each with flour. Brown in chicken drippings and serve around the platter of chicken.

Want to be able to unmold cornstarch pudding easily? Add a tablespoon of butter to the mixture just before it is removed from the stove. Be sure, too, to rinse the molds with cold water just before you fill them.

Add a few salted peanuts to the chocolate sauce you serve over ice cream or sherberts.

Orange Mixture

Grated rind of 21-3 of dough oranges
1 cup sugar
1 cup orange juice 2 tablespoons butter and pulp

Cook sugar, orange juice and pulp 3 minutes. Add butter and rind. When syrup has thickened remove from fire and cool. Roll dough as for cinnamon rolls. Spread with orange mixture, sprinkle with a little sugar and roll up like jelly roll. Slice in one inch slices. Place in greased muffin tins, and let rise until double in bulk. Bake 20 minutes at 425 degrees F. Makes 15 rolls.

Devil's Food Cake

4 squares bitter chocolate 2 teaspoons vanilla
1 cup milk 1 cup brown sugar
1 cup sugar
1 cup butter or 2 eggs
1 other shortening 2 cups cake flour
1 cup milk 1 teaspoon soda

Boil grated chocolate, 1 cup milk and 1 cup sugar until thick. Cool. Cream butter thoroughly, add brown sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add the well-beaten eggs, then chocolate mixture and blend. Add flour which has been sifted with soda, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Bake in two greased 9-inch layer pans in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes or until done. Spread Raisin Nut Filling between layer and Fudge Frosting on top and sides of cake.

Raisin Nut Filling
1 cup water 1 tablespoon
3 tablespoons cornstarch

Logic Is Needed to Play Hand

BY ELY CULBERTSON

Many alleged bridge players should suspend their bridge careers for a short while to take up the study of pure logic. An error in technique, such as faulty timing, can be committed by almost any one, and there is no great blame to be attached thereto. When the only question involved, however, is one of pure and simple logic, there is not the slightest excuse for going astray.

The bidding:

North East South West
1 club 1 diamond 1 heart 1 spade
2 hearts Pass 3 hearts 3 spades
Double Pass Pass 4 diamonds
4 hearts Pass Pass

Obviously West's spade bidding was of the psychic order. His object was to coax a double of spades so that he could run to diamonds, his partner's suit, and perhaps be doubled there also. North did not fall for this ruse, however. He doubled the spades but, when the four diamond runout came, sensed what was going on and continued with his own heart bidding.

West took off to the only opening lead that could have defeated the contract, namely, the spade jack. Declarer made matters simple for the defenders (although apparently not simple enough) by putting up dummy's king, only to have it smothered by East's ace. Now East, confronting a dummy that made it completely obvious that if there were no more spade tricks the contract could not possibly be set, made the "brilliant" shift to the diamond king. West did the best thing possible, by overtaking with the ace and shifting back to a spade, but the damage was irreparable. East's blank queen blocked the spade suit and West never could regain the lead. East shifted to a trump and eventually declarer discarded his losing spade on dummy's fourth club.

It would have required an extensive search to find an angrier man than West. With vitriol fairly dripping from each word he asked East: "May I inquire what you intend to do with that blank queen of spades? Maybe you were saving it for Thanksgiving, to stuff the turkey?"

East's reply was characteristic of the player who only thinks he thinks. "How could I tell," he protested vehemently, "that you had bid and rebid spades with a four card suit? It is your own fault for psyching."

"O, yeah?" came from West. "Well, I'd like to ask you just one question. What card did you intend to lead after presumably taking the trick with your diamond king? Maybe you were going to lead a club up to the A-Q-J, or a trump. And, finally, maybe you can tell me what tricks we could take aside from a diamond, unless we could get some more spade tricks."

East had no answer to this question and, indeed, there was none. Usually the bidding must be taken as a guide to the play, but in this case East had nothing to think about! The dummy made it perfectly obvious that the defenders could take no more than one diamond, no club tricks and no hearts. East's own three hearts being a guarantee that West could have no more than a singleton. Even if West had the club king it would be worthless in front of the A-Q-J. Thus the fact that West had bid and rebid spades, superficially indicating a long suit, was of absolutely no consequence. It was absurd for East to keep the blank queen of spades in his hand. Obviously, had he laid down that blocking card and then led his diamond, West would have overtaken and cashed a third spade for the setting trick.

NEVER AMENDED

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—(AP)—Tennessee's 68-year-old constitution is the only unamended constitution in the United States, Dr. William H. Combs, University of Tennessee political instructor, finds.

"The Constitution exists today in exactly the same form as that in which it was adopted 68 years ago," Dr. Combs writes.

"Everyone of the other 47 constitutions, regardless of ages, has been amended since the adoption of Tennessee's fundamental law in 1796. In fact, with the exception of Tennessee, there is not a state whose organic law has not been amended since 1912."

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

BY PATRICIA LINDSAY

Don't think me a grumpy, joyous girl in your teens, when I harp away at keeping yourselves sweet and alluring. And I mean more than just bathing daily and keeping nicely groomed. That's to be expected. I mean be discriminating in the things you do—act a bit haughty if necessary. Choose your friendships wisely and be wholesome in your living.

Quite frequently during adolescent years, young girls get bitten with a desire to show the people of the world (and especially the male gender) that they are no longer buds but sophisticated wenches — yes wenches—for they do anything to show off. Like drinking scotch when they should be sipping a soft drink, and wearing clothes designed for girls in their early thirties, and staying out too late with any boy who wears long pants and has a few dollars to spend. Where does it get them? My old nurse used to say to me when she was disgusted with my carryings on—"Why don't you use the head you were blessed with?" And I'll pass it on — why don't you?

Your sweet youth, your fresh personality, your enthusiasm, your unspoiled outlook, are precious assets. Why not put a good high price on them and wait until the right bidder comes along? It might take a few years but you have loads of time and in the meantime enjoy yourself in the manner that gets you farther in the end.

"Perhaps you don't like what Aunt Patricia advises but just listen to what a noted dramatic coach has to say on the subject. It's his job to take starlets of the screen and guide them to stardom, fashion them into young ladies with charm-pluses so all the world will pay to see them.

"Don't waste your kisses girls," he warns. "If you're really in love, of course, this doesn't apply. But make sure you know you're in love for casual kissing on the front porch or in the hallway or taxi is strictly taboo for girl with stage and screen ambition. And the same rule ought to apply to every girl."

"Girls free and easy with their kisses tend to dissipate emotional force needed by every young actress in her career and by other young women who wish to succeed in life.

"I know this sounds like Mid-Victorian preaching but at least there is one point the most modern girl ought to be able to grasp. There is nothing more valuable than the ability to give a genuine, emotional response, and the girl who becomes calloused or indifferent to emotional demonstrations tends to become emotionally tough."

So, take it from Mr. Himsdale if not from me!

"Grandfather Clocks"

A few years ago a member of the "Liars' Club" told a story which many persons thought was funny. He said he had a "grandfather clock" so old that the shadow of its pendulum wore a hole through the wooden back of its case!

While that was meant as only a joke, some of the tall hall clocks buyers. In one case the buyer was told:

"Loosen the pendulum, observing that it hangs free of the case. . . . Put the pendulum in motion. The weight is already wound up. Set it with the minute hand, which may be moved backward or forward. To make the timepiece go faster, raise the pendulum ball by the screw at the bottom. To make it go slower, lower the ball with the same screw."

And - carved decorations and inlays on the clock cases were in some cases works of art. The clocks stood in the hall, where guests entering the home could see them and study the workmanship.

What stories a grandfather clock might tell if it could talk! So might other curious clocks which were popular hundreds of years ago. Clock-makers developed special styles in their clocks. One kind was called "the-wag-on-the-wall." This name came from the fact that the pendulum had no case over it and could be seen "wagging" on the wall.

Success with roses depends largely upon the amount of water used. Without it, hybrid tea roses are not likely to give a very good account of themselves in the summer months. The best plan to follow is to give the beds a thorough soaking once a week, perhaps by placing the hose on the ground and permitting the water to flow freely over it. It is wise to make the application in the morning, however, for the reason that moisture in the rose garden at night is likely to result in the appearance of mildew. Another application of a standard fertilizer may be made at this time, care being taken to wash it into the ground around the roots. And of course spraying or dusting must be continued.

To remove wrinkles from a transparent velvet gown, hang it in the bathroom after filling the tub with hot water. The steam from the water will remove all wrinkles.

Average Education Enough To Keep Domestic Peace

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—Do you think a young man with a university education would feel superior to a girl without even a high school education, but who is holding a responsible office position? Do you think the girl should tell him when he proposes to her that she is not up to his standard in education? Does education play an important part in making or marring the happiness of a marriage? MISS P. S.

Answer:
Of course, the young college graduate will feel superior to the young lady without a degree, but college graduates feel superior to everybody else on earth, anyway, so that doesn't matter. Also, every man feels superior to every woman, no matter whether or not she is the educated one, so there is nothing to worry over in that, either.

In fact, it is a very good arrangement all around, for nothing makes more for domestic peace and happiness than for the husband to be able to look down upon his wife and to be able to gaze adoringly up to her husband and to regard him as an oracle.

Whenever you hear a wife begin every sentence with "John says," and when you observe one meekly burning incense at her husband's feet, you may be sure that you are beholding a contented household in which there is no wrangling nor disputes.

That men prefer wives who are not so well educated as themselves is abundantly proved by the fact that no blue stocking is ever a riot with the cheifs; that the more learned a woman is, the less chance she has of getting a husband. As a result of an investigation that Dr. Roy Anderson, of Teachers College at Columbia university, has recently made of the effect of the higher education on the future of girls, he declares that college girls have 20 per cent less chance to get married than have the girls who do not go to college.

General observation will bear this statement out. When we are trying to "sell" a girl to young men we descend upon her beauty, her dancing, upon her prowess in outdoor sports, but we never dream of saying that a girl is a Ph. D. or that she reads heavy books, or that she understands the Einstein theory. For well we know that if we did, wild horses couldn't drag any youth to come and call upon her.

But you make a mistake in thinking that because a girl has not a formal education she is bound to be ignorant and stupid. Some of the very best educated people I have ever known had little schooling, but they had read, studied and observed until they had made themselves highly intelligent and well informed on every subject. Certainly a girl who is able to hold down a responsible office position is no fool, and very possibly she is far more mentally alert and up-to-date than her college-boy sweetheart.

No doubt she is, or else she would not attract him, for while men may not prefer college girls for wives, neither do they desire Dumb Doras. They want women who have brains enough to keep up with them, and to understand what they are talking about and to be entertaining companions. Certainly a girl does not need to tell a man how much education she has had. That speaks for itself and shows in everything she says and does.

Dear Miss Dix—I am the possessor of an unusual amount of masculine beauty. I have the classic features, the hair, teeth, figure, etc. How can I make these earn me a living? CHARLES.

Answer:
So far as I know the only markets for masculine beauty are the movies and the gigolo profession. In business nobody cares how the outside of a man's head looks. All that employers are interested in are his brains. Generally speaking, the pretty man is at a disadvantage with his homelier fellows when it comes to getting a job.

Nor do young girls care for the masculine beauties, but rich, fat old women, frequently have a penance for masculine beauties. I have the classic features, the hair, teeth, figure, etc. How can I make these earn me a living? CHARLES.

America Can Open Up New Frontiers, Glenn Frank Says

National Republican Leader Is Speaker at Jace Celebration

America has two courses ahead of her, one on which political leaders can assume that the frontier, with all its opportunities, is gone and the other on which it is possible for the nation to "spread up the equivalents of the lost frontier" and create as many or even more opportunities than existed in her early history.

This was the outlook portrayed by Glenn Frank, national Republican chairman on policy and former president of the University of Wisconsin, in his talk Sunday afternoon at the Half the Life of the Nation Civic celebration at Erb park.

The national Republican leader told the crowd that "we are embarked already on the first course" and that the best and strongest kind of political leadership would "refuse to make such a cowardly surrender."

Handout Psychology

Scoring what he termed a "handout psychology" prevailing in the country today, Frank said: "The second course, that on which we will recreate the frontier, will not let the tools rust that are now rusting under an administration that believes scarcity to be the way to national welfare."

Americans are going to "keep their heads," he said, and borrow the best there is in the three ideas of government. These three ideas are (1) individual initiative, (2) group action, and (3) state control.

"We want a nation where politics is the servant and not the sovereign of the people," Frank said. "We need political leadership which will call the nation to repentance without taking the hope from its heart."

Not Communism

If America were to turn from a democracy to some other form of government, it would not be communism, Frank believes. By his purges, Stalin has eliminated the most staunch of the communists in Russia, the first champions of the cause, and the "central drive of communism is now gone," the speaker said.

Of this picture of America repudiating her present political system and adopting a new, Frank remarked: "The American future has come to a head-on collision between democracy and fascism."

Honkcamp Talks

The former University of Wisconsin president was invited by Elmer Honkcamp, chairman of the Outagamie county Republican committee, Mayor John Goodland, Jr., opened the program and welcomed the crowd to the celebration.

Frank was scheduled to speak at a luncheon in his honor at Butte des Morts Golf club before his appearance at the Erb park celebration, but the luncheon was canceled at his request for a chance to rest.

There are two ways, Frank said, by which a nation reaches that frame of mind where it denounces democracy and adopts fascism. The first is when a "self-confident strong man" catches popular fancy and the second when "a certain brand of leadership which calls itself liberal has fallen into the delusion that the solution of a country's problems is in an all-powerful government."

Can Be Misdirected

"The determination of the American people to attain the highest standard of living is sound, but it can be misdirected by a government ignorant of economics but versed in vote-getting politics and sleight-of-hand finances."

If Abraham Lincoln were alive, he would work just as diligently to bring unity among the classes in America as he did to bring amicable relations between the North and South, Frank said in condemning an "organized movement" in the country to foment class hatred. "We don't want to turn the United States over to any group, the business man, the industrialist, the laborer, or the farmer. America does not belong to any group. It belongs to all the American people. We must go up together and come down together."

Demagogues, whether reactionary or radical, are the "crowds" worst enemies," the Republican leader asserted, and the "forces of demagoguery are threatening to break down the social unity of the American people."

The Reactionary

The reactionary demagogue is prone to label any attempt at progressive action as radical, Frank said. "Even I have been called dangerous."

The radical demagogue "assumes he has a monopoly on everything progressive and always appeals to sympathy for the unfortunate. He is the champion of the policies that

Rubin Files Brief in Request for Re-Hearing

Madison—Attorney William B. Rubin, of Milwaukee filed a brief with the state supreme court today in support of his request for a re-hearing on a decision that Herman L. Ekern was legally appointed by Governor LaFollette to the office of lieutenant governor.

"To permit that kind of an appointment to go unchallenged is to pave the way for disintegration of democratic government," Rubin said.

Rubin presents James W. Martin, Thensville, in an action designed to oust Ekern from office. Ekern succeeded Henry A. Gunderson, who resigned last fall to become a member of the tax commission.

Rubin charged Governor LaFollette "seduced a lieutenant governor to resign his office by offering him a remunerative position" in order that he might appoint a lieutenant governor of his liking.

exalt the incompetent and subsidize the shiftless."

The demagogue can be easily identified because he "appeals to the unstable emotions, follows the crowd, plays the politics that have the short-term vote-getting power, and sells the future short," he said.

Hughes, Ready for Paris, May Make World Flight

BY DEVON FRANCIS
Associated Press Aviation Editor
New York—Howard Hughes, the lanky millionaire from California, is in town wearing a brown felt hat which has seen better days, and presently he is going to fly to Paris just for the experience of flying to Paris.

Whether he will go on around the world, he says, depends on how things look when he gets to Europe. The only man who ever has flown to Paris from New York is Charles A. Lindbergh. Of the many who have circled the world by air, including those in the Graf Zeppelin in 1929, the late Wiley Post made the best elapsed time—7 days, 15 hours.

For two years Hughes, who is known as the only independent movie producer from the "outside" who ever got out of Hollywood with his shirt, has had stores of gasoline buried at strategic points on the globe for just such a flight.

Hughes drifted on to Floyd Bennett airport in his two-motored transport ship last night after a leisurely, one-stop hop across the continent from Burbank, Calif.

Who was going to be captain of the ship on the flight to Paris? "There won't be any chief," Hughes said. "Every man has his own job, and each of us is as good as the other. The automatic pilot will really do most of the flying."

An automatic pilot is a gyroscope gadget, used on most commercial air lines, to which Hughes can turn over control of his $85,000 machine when he wants to take a rest. Four men will accompany him, but Hughes will be at the controls.

Just when he will leave, New York weather reports on North Atlantic weather reports.

Lieutenant Hiram Thurlow and Harry Connor, navigators, and Richard Stoddard, radio operator, are scheduled to make the flight to Paris. Whether Glenn Odekirk, who came with Hughes from Burbank, will go along as flight engineer remained to be determined.

Find Utility Has Funds To Carry out Program

Madison—The public service commission ruled today the Lake Superior District Power company has sufficient funds to carry out a reasonable program of rural electric extensions this year.

At a hearing to investigate rural construction funds of the company, John A. Becker, coordination director of the REA, testified that because of a shortage of REA funds a great many applicants for electric service in the northern part of the state had been unable to obtain electric service.

"Lake Superior District Power company has set aside $300,000 for rural construction during 1938," the commission said, "but indicated it will not limit itself to that amount if the urgency of the situation demands a greater expenditure."

"It appears that the company's 1938 budget is sufficiently flexible to provide more funds for 1938 than the amount allotted."

Committee Gives O.K. to Plan for Recall of Troops

Asks Britain to Approach Both Faction in Spanish War

London—(U)—The full nonintervention committee, with 26 European nations represented—the original 27 minus Austria—tonight gave formal approval to the British-sponsored scheme to withdraw foreign troops from the Spanish civil war.

The committee then requested Britain to approach both Spanish factions immediately to obtain their approval for the scheme, which involves the dispatch of commissions to arrange for the aliens' evacuation. Already the insurgents' acceptance has been predicted.

Adoption of the plan was hailed in official quarters as a great potential factor for European peace. Britain, France, Italy and Germany paid to the committee $12,500 ($62,500) each to get the work started.

Britain is expected to send a 70-page printed document detailing the project for withdrawing volunteers from Spain to both Spanish factions with the request for urgent consideration.

Ready To Accept

Reports reaching London from Burgos, France's capital, said the generalissimo was prepared to accept the plan unconditionally upon receiving it.

Acceptance of the plan has vital significance for Great Britain and Italy. Both are anxious to get the Anglo-Italian friendship agreement signed April 16 working, but putting the pact into operation is conditional on "progress" in the withdrawal of volunteers from Spain.

The program for the withdrawal is: As soon as the plan becomes operative, two commissions will leave for Spain to count the number of volunteers on each side and make detailed arrangements for their departure from Spain.

When the numbers on each side are determined, a proportion will be established. When 10,000 have been withdrawn from the lesser side, a proportionately larger number from the greater side, beligerent rights will be granted both sides.

Camps will be established near seaports and withdrawal will take place at the rate of 500 men daily in ships chartered by the nonintervention commissions.

This rate would mean that beligerent rights would be granted three or four weeks after the first contingent had left.

Gold Is Common Yardstick of All Times—Lawrence

Wonders if "History's Test" Will Leave Public In Black or Red

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington — President Roosevelt referred recently to the need for "a new kind of government balance sheet—a long-range sheet which shows survival values for our population and for our democratic way of living, balanced against what we have paid for them."

Mr. Roosevelt feels that this is "history's test" and that, if applied to his term, "the long-range budget of the present administration—our government has been in the black and not in the red." The president is right in suggesting this test, but opinions will differ as to whether the American people, in a long-range test, will come out in the "black" or in the "red."

To take one yardstick of measurement—the one that has lasted from the most ancient times to the present, namely gold—the annual income produced each year by the American people is nowadays paid for in much less gold than before, and the national wealth, measured in gold bars, is worth ever so much less than it was in 1933, when the Roosevelt administration began.

To illustrate: the national income produced in 1932 would, if converted into the yellow metal, have been exchangeable for about 2,000,000,000 ounces of gold. This year, namely 1938, the estimated national income will be exchangeable for only about 1,800,000,000 ounces of gold. So, measured in gold, the nation is not as well off as it was even in the Hoover year of 1932.

Purchasing Power
The natural rejoinder to such an appraisal, however, is that the paper dollar and not the gold dollar is actually in use and that it doesn't make much difference what amount of labor you have to give to get a gold dollar, it's what you have to give to get a paper dollar that counts. In other words, it is pointed out that the purchasing power of the dollar has fluctuated very little, even though it takes almost two paper dollars to have the equivalent of the old gold dollar.

That is true. But, using a long-range test, which is what Mr. Roosevelt suggested, purchasing power of the paper dollar will remain steady over a long span of time. History shows that it doesn't remain steady when the government which issues the paper dollars keeps on spending more than it takes in.

Sooner or later, the paper dollars, which is only another way of saying they buy less and less.

This comes about because the people eventually realize that there can never be enough tax money produced to pay the big annual budgets and that, when expenses are not cut, but spending continues unabated, there must sooner or later be a revaluation of the paper dollar by the people themselves.

As a matter of technical truth, we have devalued the dollar to a gold content of about 60 cents, but we have as yet no such thing as a 60-cent dollar in purchasing power. When devaluation takes effect, and it may some day if budgets are kept unbalanced, the American people may become aware of the fact that their dollar has come down to 60 cents, that it will be buying only 60 per cent of what it used to buy.

Devalue Next Step
The devalue "down to 60 cents" in actuality is the next step in the long-range process, and this will be felt in the gradual increase in prices of goods, services, and commodities. Just now there are signs that the process is about to start. The stock market prices are rising. Soon this will be followed by gradual increases in price of many necessities of life. "Pump-priming" always at the outset, gives the impression of real prosperity. Factories begin to hum, orders begin to come in, and the people begin to believe they are making real progress. Then comes the relapse, as it did in the latter part of 1937 and in the fore part of 1938, when orders drop on the average about 50 per cent and the decline is precipitate in almost everything.

The temptation is to cure this by another dose of "pump-priming," but, on the long-range side, the people gradually wake up to the fact that their monetary unit is being depreciated. For there's only one yardstick common to all generations and all times—it's gold. The

Firemen Answer One Alarm Over Weekend

Only one alarm was answered by the city fire department over the Fourth of July weekend despite the heavy shooting of fireworks during the annual celebration. The call was to the William H. Vorbeck meat market, 610 W. College avenue shortly after 12 o'clock yesterday noon to put out an awning fire. The blaze may have been started by a thrown firecracker or a discarded cigar.

History Repeats Self.

Wiley Says in Address
Hudson, Wis. — (P) — Alexander Wiley of Copper Falls, Republican candidate for the senate, said in an address here yesterday history is repeating itself in battles for freedom as waged by patriots who signed the Declaration of Independence.

Wiley, linking the present-day political situation to the eighteenth century, said reasons for the revolt in 1776 were that the king interfered with the judiciary, established a bureaucracy, attempted to alter the fundamental function of the people's government, and claimed he was invested with power to legislate.

"A dose of common sense" is needed in government, Wiley asserted. Importing duty products to compete with native products "doesn't make horse sense," he said.

$20,000 Damage Suit Filed Against Estate

Marinette — (P) — A $20,000 damage suit of Mrs. Leona Wolff, Milwaukee, was on file in Marinette county circuit court today in the plaintiff's attempt to collect for injuries she received Feb. 15, 1938, when her sister, Mrs. Irma Kaiser Von Nobel, was fatally shot by her husband, Henry Von Nobel.

The suit is against the estate of Von Nobel, who killed himself after firing the shots that killed his wife and wounded Mrs. Wolff, and against Sheriff Arthur Wolff as administrator of the estate.

Mrs. Wolff was shot in the cheek. She claims she had received permanent scars, impaired vision and hearing, and a speech defect which may be permanent.

HEADS CITIZENSHIP GROUP

Washington — Mrs. Saida Orr Dunbar, Oregon social worker, recently elected president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, appointed Mrs. F. H. Clauson, Horicon, Wis., yesterday to direct the American citizenship department of the federation.

world has been off the gold standard in innumerable instances. But it always goes back. This does not mean that monetary units are necessarily made redeemable in gold. But the yardstick, or measurement basis, is always gold value. Even today, when a nation devalues its monetary unit, it is usually in a ratio to some gold unit somewhere.

Less Production
When it comes, therefore, to "survival values," the American people may be comforted by the fact that they have lots of playgrounds, lots of good-looking office buildings for the politicians, nice post offices and bridges and roads, but, unless wealth is being produced annually in greater and greater quantity, and requiring less and less energy per man, there is no real gain in the long-range balance sheet of assets.

What is happening today is that less and less is being produced, and the output per man is not as big as it must be if prices of goods are to be lower. The crisis comes finally when the farmer, who gets less and less for his bounteous crops, tries to exchange his produce for city-made goods, which are offered him at prices so high as to be out of reach because labor costs have gone up without an increasing amount of output.

The president's theory that large volume and low prices go together is an excellent doctrine if he would help apply it to all things, especially the products made by labor. If, as is desirable, wages should not be cut but maintained at higher and higher levels, then something has to be done to get more output produced with those higher wages. More work has to be done for the high wages. This is a rule as old as human nature itself, and when the "long-range balance sheet of the present administration" is some day examined discriminately by an aroused electorate, the people may find that they have plenty of good things to look at, but that the price of a loaf of bread is too high and that the public debt is unbearable. The American people—the lenders—will then have to accept more hardships arising out of a virtual repudiation of much of the national debt, and this will be done by another revaluation of the paper dollar in terms of purchasing power and higher prices.

What's New at the Library

WHAT'S NEW at the library—Tuesday. A book with the bold title, "The Most Powerful Man in the World," is among the new volumes received recently at the Appleton Public Library. Written by Glyn Roberts, it tells the story of a practically unknown dictator, Sir Henri Deterding, a Dutchman who displaced Rockefeller as the King of Oil. Deterding has been hailed by sensational writers in two continents as the hidden string-puller behind half the political schemes in the post-war era, and Roberts describes him as a man of masterful and aggressive temperament whose personal whims and prejudices have had a great deal to do with the fate of governments, of huge commercial enterprises and of millions of dollars of investments.

Deterding made his debut by taking a little oil concern, the Royal Dutch, merging it with the English Shell Transport and Trading company, with this puny instrument fighting the mighty Rockefeller to a standstill. His expansion was financed by the Rothschilds, but he now finances Hitler. He is said to have backed General Gomez, dictator of Venezuela, and he now backs Franco and admires Mussolini.

MORE

Add to the already long list of books by newspapermen and women that have been published during the last few years "Assignment Down East," by Henry Buxton. Another of the new books at the public library, it is much less a personal adventure story than most of the Newspapermen's books have been, and much more a story of Maine. Henry Buxton, on an assignment from the Bangor Daily News, has talked with hundreds of people in all parts of Maine during the last three years. Maine boasts that even today its people can tell stories about themselves that are stranger than fiction, and Buxton's interviews with sea captains, blacksmiths, woodsmen, unusual women, storekeepers, statesmen and clerks provide foundation enough for a dozen novels.

One of the important new books at the library is "My America," by Louis Adams, the author of "The Native's Return." It is an impressive attempt to present as a whole the diverse and incongruous factors which go to make up a vast country—a country Adams has come to understand and appreciate through the eyes of a foreign-born citizen. A partial list of the people, places, movements, trends, conditions, events, problems and other subjects discussed in the book are: "Big Business: Does it Want Fascism?" "Why a Communist Revolution in the United States is Unlikely," "Bob and Phil LaFollette and the 'Wisconsin Idea'" "What it Means to be an Industrial Worker," "Southern Mountaineers: California Migratory Workers" and "Literary New York and American Intellectualism."

Persons who plan to travel in New England and others who like to read about Cape Cod will be interested in "Cape Cod Pilot," by Jeremiah Digges, which will be ready for circulation soon at the public library. Prepared as an undertaking of the Federal Writers' Project of Massachusetts, it is one of the American Guide Series being written in 48 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico, by members of the Federal Writers' Project. "Cape Cod Pilot" covers Cape Cod from the architecture of its houses to the zoology of its sea serpents, and describes a route for travelers to follow.

Another geographical book, but one in a more serious mood, is "Puerto Rico and Its People," by Trumbull White. Mr. White's observation of Puerto Rican affairs began with his service as war correspondent while the Spanish flag still flew over the new American island. During his years as a world traveler his interest in Puerto Rico never diminished, and he has just spent several months in a new intensive study of conditions there. The book is illustrated with 47 reproductions from photographs.

"Resources for Living," by Gaus Glenn Atkins, is sub-titled a plain man's philosophy. Work, play, art, friendship, love and religion are some of man's daily interests examined by the author to see what each can yield toward making life worthwhile. The Rev. Mr. Atkins, Louis Penino, recently with Borah Minovitch's Harmonica Rascals, will be a part of the program together with the Walker Brothers, who will perform with more than $3,500 worth of instruments. Among the accomplishments of the brothers is a number in which they play 15 harmonicas at the same time.

Arrangements are being made for seats to accommodate the huge crowds which attend and a loud speaking system will be installed so that everyone can hear. Last year as many as 16,000 persons attended.

The Outdoor theater also operates in Madison, Beaver Dam, Oshkosh and Green Bay and this year may operate in Marinette and Menominee, Mumm said.

killed by a left handed blow from the knife of her sister Pam Frye.
Interested parties are: Tim Carr, once married to Marina; Roddy and persons unknown who burned down the Frye's barn, destroyed

Tim, and Pam's father, destroyed
Jack Lorne's mural sketches and defaced the mural itself. Missing is a $50,000 lump of ambergris belonging to Pam. Then Roddy disappears, and the biffer turns out to be Jennings, who says he is very sorry.

Now, I got to get along. I'll see Pam before I--

"What about me?" Lorne asked.
"Me, and my drawings, and my-- my sufferings? And--"

"Just you consider them," Ascy said, "the sufferin' of a true artist, an' thank God Jennings didn't do more than spank you."

"You defend the man?"

"I don't, but I know the part he played in this--"

"You defend him, you excuse him, you believe every word he says--
You don't seem to think it matters what he did to me, and my drawings and all! You're in league with him--"

"Would you," Ascy asked with a purr in his voice, "like another spankin'? Would you?"

"Well," Lorne said, "well, why do you uphold him?"

"I don't! I'd figured what part the biffer played, an' I was right.
I worried for fear he might really be after Roddy, but he's proved that's all Roddy an' Carvel, puttin' on an act. Now, Lorne, take the advice of the old Philistine, an' pipe down. Tim, what become of the trooper you brought over?"

"He's outside. I didn't know until he popped in." Timothy said, "that Jennings was here. I told the troop-to go outside and keep watch.
He's there now, I suppose--"

"Who is he?"

"No one I ever saw before."

"That's a relief," Ascy said. "If it was Shorty or O'Malley, Jennings might have his hands full.
Coming over to see Pam an'
Aaron?"

Jennings squared his shoulders.
"Uh-huh."

"Hurry!"

Over at Octagon House, Pam greeted them wearily.

"Don't speak above a whisper," she said. "We just got Aaron asleep
-- I don't know if Cummings gave him too many pills, or not enough, but he's been fretful and nervous-- he's even been fussing about the clocks. I've called Dr. Cummings and told him to drop over before he finishes for the night. I'm worried."

"Pam," Jennings said, "I did it."

"What?"

"I hit him, but I didn't mean to.
I thought it was Lorne. I didn't throw him down the stairs, he fell.
And I'm awful sorry-- can I fix you up with water and a bathroom, free and the doctor's bills, and honest, I'm awful sorry," Jennings paused for breath. "Honest, I am."

Ascy didn't know whether Pam was going to laugh or cry or just whack Jennings in the nose.

"Did you burn the barn?" she said at last.

"No, I didn't."

"Well--oh, damn, there's that phone, and it'll wake Father-- damn you, stop ringin'!"

"Think she's mad?" Jennings whispered as Pam raced off to the phone.

"I think you're lucky," Ascy said,
"in havin' a reasonable woman to deal with--"

"It was for you, Ascy," Pam said, coming back. "It was Elliott, and

Democracy Will Survive
In U. S., Duffy Believes

Rhinclander—(7)—The urge for democratic rule which caused Europeans to move to this country and form the United States has gone into reverse, Senator F. Ryan Duffy declared in an Independence day address here yesterday.

“The trend,” Duffy said, “is in the other direction. Dictatorships of communism and fascism have been established. We see many millions of highly civilized people in Europe who no longer have the right to govern themselves. A democracy will have a difficult time to exist, and yet we know that American citizens would never be content with any other form of government.”

Democracy will survive in the United States, Duffy said, because it desires a free press, free speech, the right to peacefully assemble, the right to address grievances to the government, and above all, the right to worship God according to the dictates of one's own conscience.

Duffy said the greatest danger, more than “fashionable” criticism of the government and economic and political problems, would be to become involved in another war.
“If we lost,” he said, “I feel we would be in grave danger of communism.”

Speaking at Stanley, Wis., to members of a dairy co-operative Sunday, Senator Duffy said that the farm act of 1938 protects dairy states against unfair competition from land taken out of production.
Duffy said the law should help
Wisconsin dairymen because it “decreases the likelihood that producers of corn, wheat, cotton, and other products will be driven into competition with them by low prices of basic crops.”

The senator also spoke at Neilsville Sunday during dedication ceremonies for the new post office building there.

BY VICTOR EUBANK

New York—(U)—Profit sellers had their innings with the stock market today and, at the worst, leading issues were knocked down 1 to 3 points.

Activity was greatest just after the opening when the list churned rapidly and, for a brief period, the ticker tape fell behind from the first hour on volume dwindled appreciably and at the close quotations were above low marks in many cases. Transfers were around 1,700,000 shares.

Steels, motors and specialties, star performers of one of the quickest recoveries in market history, were among the first to retreat. Rails and utilities gave a fairly good account of themselves.

Traders returned from their lengthy holiday without any noticeable wilting of optimism, but most decided to cash in the belief the recent sharp and almost uninterrupted rally called for at least a sizable technical correction.

Prominent stocks on the dropping side were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Deere, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, American Smelting and Refining, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Johns-Manville, Air Reduction, Chesapeake and Ohio, Lowe's, Texas Corp. and Allis Chalmers.

Contesting the trend were Baltimore and Ohio, Consolidated Edison and Pennsylvania.

Among curb market losers were such issues as Pittsburgh Plate Glass, Niles-Bement-Pond, Peppercorn Mfg. and Jones and Laughlin Steel, the last dipping around 6.

Today's Market At A Glance

New York—(U)—Stocks heavy; profit selling hits leaders.

Bonds, easy; many early gains lost.

Curb, lower; industrials decline. Foreign exchange, weak; sterling, francs decline.

Cotton, easy; favorable weather. Sugar, higher; Wall street buys late months.

Coffee, event; trade buying. Chicago—Wheat, lower; record-breaking receipts.

Corn, steady; rural offerings limited.

Cattle, strong to 25 up. Hogs 5-15 higher.

Moderate Selling Cuts Down Leaders in Bonds

New York—(U)—The forward march of the bond market, starting two weeks ago and continuing with little interruption, was broken today by moderate selling in many of the recent fast climbers.

Losses ranging to more than 2 points in rails and corporate industrials were numerous in late dealings. However, some bonds held early advances of 1 to 4 points. The sell off embraced Allegheny 5s, American Telephone 3 1/2s of 1936, Illinois Central 4 1/2s, Missouri-Kansas-Texas 5s and New York Central 5s of 2013.

American Typefounders convertibles jumped nearly 15 on a single transaction and Abitibi Paper, in the foreign list, was more than 5 on a few sales.

Twin Lakes Reservation Prepares for Activities During Coming 6 Weeks

Waupaca—Work at Twin Lakes reservation is proceeding as usual although no scouts are registered now in the week intervening between the cub camp and that of the regular Boy Scouts who will arrive July 10.

Seven counsellors are making improvements in the cabins, cleaning the grounds and preparing for the activities at the camps during the next six weeks.

Neil Merrill, Oshkosh, director of campfire activities, first aid and the pioneer program, is preparing for the construction of the pioneer village one-half mile from headquarters by the senior Boy Scouts during the next period. The boys will build their own Adirondack, tents where they will sleep; each will be screened on the open side for protection from the ever prevalent mosquitoes. An open rustic "mess hall" will house the stone fireplace where the scouts will do their own cooking.

This week Mr. Merrill will make an archaeological expedition around the reservation to obtain first-hand information of the actual Indian relics there. He has been corresponding with Dr. C. E. Brown, director of the Wisconsin State Historical society, who has supplied him with valuable data on the early history of the area.

Indian Camping Ground
Twin Lakes Reservation was once a favorite camping ground of the Indians, and the east shore of Mud lake not far away is the site of the most extensive Indian village in Waushara county. Linear, conical and oval mounds are to be found in the vicinity of Twin Lakes. One linear mound on the reservation is seventy feet long and twelve feet wide. It was also here that in 1916 an archaeological expedition unearthed nine skeletons in sitting position in a burial mound, and in another was a cache of arrow heads.

Counsellors at the reservation this week in addition to Mr. Merrill are Lester Lundsted, Oshkosh, director of the waterfront; Tom Roberts, Oshkosh, director of handicraft; Richard Holmes, Oshkosh, mess-serveant; Robert Carey, director of dining room and dishwashing; and Ralph March, Oshkosh, assistant waterfront director. All of them were originally Boy Scouts.

Harry R. Hertz, Oshkosh, scout executive, and Roy Holly, Waupaca, assistant camp director, are spending this week at their homes.

Twin Lakes reservation comprises 265 acres and has been the property of the Boy Scouts of Twin Lakes area council for 11 years. Eighty scouts can be accommodated at one time. Originally the boys slept in tents, but these are gradually being replaced with screened cabins. Now there are seven cabins and four tents; the Bob-White cabin is the latest addition. A large dining hall and kitchen with "headquarters" near by are in the center of the grounds; the cabins, first-aid station and a natural amphitheatre are scattered around the hills, the farthest cabin being about one-quarter of a mile from headquarters. A gasoline engine furnishes power for the electric lights, and a hot water system supplies the kitchen with water (which must be 180 degrees Fahrenheit to comply with regulations of the National Boy Scout council) for the scalding of dishes which are never dried by towels.

Totem Pole at Camp
A totem pole, constructed in 1936 under the leadership of Clarence Crane, Oshkosh, depicts in brightly colored symbols the history of the camp through the addition of the cabins: Blue Ox, Paul Bunyan, Tents, Water Front, Bear's Paw, Lion's Den, Crow's Nest, and Eagle's Nest.

A 75-foot flag pole represents hours of labor in its installation, requiring four hours to bring it through the winding road from the highway one-quarter of a mile away. It carries an 8-foot flag, the gift of one of the many persons interested in this scout camp.

From June 26 to July 2 there were 80 cubs in the camp, these are boys of pre-scout age ranging from 9 to 11 years. Twin Lakes has had cubs for four years; two years previous to that the younger boys had come as "rangers." Cubs were registered from Oshkosh, Green Lake, Ripon, Berlin and Waupaca. Curtis Crusty and Stanley Thatcher represented respectively the Black Panther and Badger dens from Waupaca.

The Cubs will never forget their first morning at camp. Early risers were penalized by being forced to carry wood and stones in a "champane" from 4 to 7 o'clock. The second morning they slept through even the first bugle.

In addition to the counsellor in first aid, the camp is furnished professional health service by Dr. A. M. Christoffersson, Waupaca, during each camp period. He is the immediate retiring district chairman of the Waupaca district and a member of the executive board of the Twin Lakes area council.

Motorcycle Patrolman
Added to Police Force
Waupaca—Arthur Hewitt, former traffic patrolman for a number of years prior to his release two years ago, is again a member of the local police force. He started his duties Saturday. The police committee composed of Aldermen Willys Holmes, George Friberg and Louis Seibert, met with Mayor I. B. Erickson and agreed unanimously to the rehiring of Hewitt.

The old motorcycle has been reconditioned and will be used by the officer in control of traffic. Hewitt, hired for three months, will receive a monthly salary of $100.

"They weren't putting on an act, Ascy."

"You mean, Roddy has disappeared?" Ascy said. "Well, maybe. But I've solved Jennings, and I know no menacer got hold of Roddy. He may have gone elsewhere, but he went of his own accord. You don't really think that Roddy is seriously misin, do you?"

"Well," Elliott said briefly, "he's dead, anyway."
